

St. Laurent Letters to Eden Called 'Realistic But Not Rude'

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent.

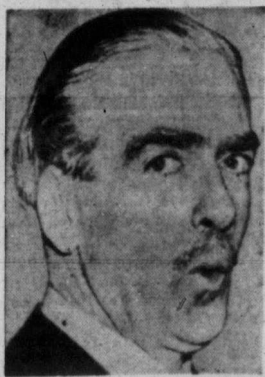

OTTAWA—Canada's correspondence with Sir Anthony Eden, British prime minister, setting out this country's reaction and appraisal of the British military gamble in the Middle East was cast in "blunt" terms and was described by a cabinet source here Thursday as "realistic, but not rude."

The messages exchanged between the British and Canadian prime ministers have kicked up a storm of reaction in the United Kingdom where rumors are flying thick and fast about the contents of the Canadian messages to Sir Anthony Eden.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said in a statement this afternoon:

"The rumors that are said to be circulating in London and Ottawa are ridiculous. I have never had anything but friendly though frank communications with Sir Anthony Eden."

According to a Canadian Press report from London the last Ottawa letter to Sir Anthony delivered Monday is believed to have indicated that if the British prime minister persisted in his present policies there would not be much left that Canada's Hon. L. B. Pearson, secretary of state for external affairs, could do to help matters.

EDEN

Government sources here were reluctant to discuss the two letters sent to Britain by Prime Minister St. Laurent. The prime minister himself has flatly refused to discuss the contents of his diplomatic correspondence with Sir Anthony.

One source here said the letters might be described as "firm not tough, advisory, but not threatening."

The last Canadian message is believed to have suggested to Britain that the Franco-British forces should invoke a cease-fire in Egypt if the Canadian proposal to establish a United Nations International Police Force in the area was to make any headway. Shortly after the Ottawa message went to Britain the British government acting in concert with the French government ordered a cease-fire in the Middle East.

The first Canadian message to the British government is believed to have set forth in no uncertain terms that while Canada sympathized with the frustrations experienced by Britain in seeking to maintain peace in the Middle East, Canada could not agree with the resort to the use of force outside of the UN.

... friendly but frank."

Britain's Labor Party alarmed over the strain in Commonwealth relations tabled a motion in the U.K. Parliament Wednesday calling for a conference of Commonwealth prime ministers.

Reaction in Ottawa to the calling of such a conference immediately is that any such conference should not be convened for several months at least. Value of such a conference at this time is regarded as highly dubious. There should be a cooling off period before it was convened.

Prime Minister St. Laurent in his broadcast Sunday night said that the "present crisis has strained the western alliance and the bonds of the Commonwealth more than any event since the Second World War."

Rt. Hon. R. G. Casey, minister of external affairs for Australia, said this week in Ottawa that he could not see any real value in holding a prime ministers' Commonwealth conference just now. The same reaction is apparent in Canadian government circles.

WARNING BY HARRIS

Canada Teeters On Inflation Brink

TORONTO—Canada is teetering on the brink of inflation, Finance Minister Walter Harris warned in an address to the Toronto Institute of Life Underwriters and the Life Underwriters Association of Toronto today.

Policies of restraint are essential by business, governments and citizens generally if the Canadian economy is to be prevented from plunging forward over the brink. Prudent curtailment of borrowing and spending are imperative the minister stressed.

It was one of the bluntest speeches the finance minister has made on the subject of inflationary tendencies threatening the welfare of the Canadian economy.

"We do not want to have the boom carried to extremes and followed by a bust," the minister cautioned.

"We must not try to operate the economic machinery above its physical capacity," he added.

The minister discussed the tremendous expansion that has taken place in consumer credit. But he did not forecast any new curbs on consumer credit.

Spending Runs Ahead of Supply

The economic situation at the present time is that there is a tendency for the overall rate of spending on goods and services to run ahead of the overall availability of goods and services. In these circumstances it is difficult to believe that it is either useful or desirable at this time to have the stimulus of continued increases in consumer credit.

The amount of consumer credit now outstanding is substantial—about $2.4 billion—or $700 per family. This is nearly 20 per cent higher than it was a year ago and about 50 per cent higher than it was in the prosperous year 1953," said Mr. Harris.

Balloonists Live To Tell Tale Of 15-Mile Drop

RAPID CITY, S.D. (UP)—Two navy balloonists survived a 78,000-foot fall (about 15 miles) from the stratosphere today and were picked up by a navy helicopter after plunging to earth five miles southeast of Kennedy, Neb.

The balloon started losing altitude fast after reaching maximum height and dropped to 62,000 feet within a few minutes.

It was completely out of control at 61,500 feet and the pilots were dropping ballast in an attempt to regain control.

They buckled themselves in the gondola when it began spinning crazily from its balloon attachment.

The balloon was sent aloft by the navy to pry new secrets from the fringes of space.

AN EDITORIAL

Just One More Push!

THE goal is in sight. In this year's "better-than-ever" Community Chest record, some $209,500 is on the books. President R. B. Wilson and campaign chairman Harry Gladwell think they know where another $6,500 in contributions is lurking.

That leaves only $4,000 to go, to make the $220,000 total.

This is the finest showing Victorians have ever made.

Officials were meeting this afternoon in what might be called "Operation Mop-Up"—the last kick which will put us over the top.

This can be achieved in three ways:

1. Contributions may be left at special booths being installed at Eaton's, the Bay and Woodwards.
2. You can mail cheques in to the Chest at Spencehouse on Cook Street.
3. If you call the Chest (5-5222), a "flying squad" will run out to pick up your donation.

With our fingers reaching for the peak, it would be tragic if we could not summon up that extra ounce of energy which would open up the clear, exhilarating vistas from the summit!

Please act now.

French Report Migs in Syria

PARIS (UP)—French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau said today that Israeli reports indicated large numbers of Soviet planes, mostly powerful MIG-17s, were expected to arrive or had arrived in Syria.

The French foreign minister made the disclosure before the foreign affairs committee of the national assembly.

LONDON (CP)—The Middle East conflict gave signs today of spreading to the Israel-Jordan border, even before the precarious cease-fire in Egypt has become solidly established.

The Israeli army said Arab raiders from Jordan stabbed across a 30-mile stretch of the Israel border Wednesday night blowing up a water pipeline and three empty houses and attempting to sabotage a railway line and bridge.

This added new anxiety to a situation already endangered by the threat of Soviet military intervention.

Fears of Russian action in the Mid-East were heightened by reports the Egyptians were feverishly repairing their bomb-arders from Jordan. Defence Minister Anthony Head informed the House of Commons Britain is aware of this development. He said:

"Our reports are that very active work is now taking place at considerable speed to repair the airfields."

Both London's Daily Mail and Daily Herald speculated that Russia might fly new bombers to the Egyptians, possibly from Romania.

New Bulgarian Note Reported

Premier Bulganin, whose government offered Wednesday to help throw the British, French and Israeli forces out of Egypt if the UN approved, was reported preparing a new note to Prime Minister Eden and Molotov.

Allied headquarters in Cyprus said the cease-fire in the Suez area was broken Wednesday, by a skirmish between an Egyptian patrol and British troops.

An air ministry spokesman in London said some British bombers were withdrawn from the Suez area—an indication that Britain thinks full-scale military operations are unlikely to break out again.

But in some capitals there was immediate concern lest the reported Jordan border raid lead to a full-scale attack by one side or the other.

Egyptian raids of this sort were blamed by Israel for her drive into the Sinai Peninsula a week and a half ago.

Jordan, in addition to her own army, now is reported to have within her borders military formations from Iraq, Syria and Saudi Arabia. Syria, Saudi Arabia and Jordan are closely allied with Egypt.

High British Official Quits

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Edward Boyle, 33, economic secretary to the treasury, has resigned from the government over Britain's intervention in Egypt, it was announced tonight.

Boyle is the second non-cabinet minister to quit the Conservative government in protest against the attack on Egypt. Minister of State Anthony Nutting resigned last Saturday.

Starvation Threat Riddles Hungary

VIENNA (Reuters)—Hungary's Soviet-backed government today admitted that armed Hungarians are still holding out and that the anti-Russian revolt is threatening the nation with starvation.

Budapest radio appealed to all workers in food industries to return to their jobs immediately to avert starvation.

Gyovergi Marosan, a minister of state in the Communist government formed Sunday, made the first admission by any member of the new regime that the insurgents are still fighting.

He said Russian troops were "speeding up and making easier the destruction of the counter-revolutionary attempts."

Reports reaching Vienna through Belgrade said that Soviet troops were conducting house-to-house searches in captured villages and executing inhabitants found with arms.

Reports from inside Hungary said resistance groups were still carrying on their unequal struggle, but made it clear that time was running out. One unidentified station in the Pecs region said:

"Thursday will be the last day on which we shall be able to resist Russian attacks. Our ammunition and our food supplies are running short."

"Blood is the only thing we still have to offer."

13,000 HUNGARIANS KILLED

City Letter From Vienna Tells of Budapest Fighting

Hungarian sources give 13,000 dead in the Budapest fighting compared with the Russian figure of 2,500, a letter received here from Vienna said.

Mrs. Kurt Cehak, 3339 Oak Street, received the letter today from her mother-in-law, written Nov. 3.

The distance between Budapest and Vienna is comparable to Victoria and Nanaimo, so monitoring radio broadcasts is simple.

When the letter was written, Budapest was almost without food and completely out of drugs.

Austria has been sending relief supplies to the border, but it was not known if the supplies were getting through to the beleaguered city.

Mrs. Cehak, a native of Vienna, came to Victoria from there three years ago.

Immunization From Cancer Possible, Says UBC Doctor

Speaking at a public meeting here Wednesday, Dr. Darroch said that aggression of tumors in humans may be due to antibodies.

He said laboratory workers, experimenting with rats at the university, have to determine whether immunity is due to antibodies, and that there is great hope in pursuing research along chemical lines.

Dr. Darroch said there were many types of cancers and there could be many types of causes, and that there would be many successful treatments.

There were reports in London that Prime Minister Eden might fly to Washington to confer with President Eisenhower on the crisis.
The United Nations pressed efforts to set up an international force to police the ceasefire and supervise withdrawal of British, French and Israeli troops from Egyptian territory.

Britain and France have flatly refused to pull out of the canal zone until the UN police force takes over the area.
Despite the conflicting demands of the combatants, the UN assembly last night authorized the command of the new UN force, headed by Canadian Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, to "proceed forthwith with the full organization." Burns arrived in Cairo today to make preparations for taking over command of the UN force.

Twelve countries already have offered troops, and some UN delegates predicted that the first units would arrive in the Suez in two or three days.

On the canal front, Egypt said her people were still fighting hard last night in Port Said, Mediterranean terminal of the waterway. Buildings were ablaze from naval bombardment and water supplies were cut off by French capture of the city's reservoir.

Observers in Port Said estimated 1,500 Egyptians had been killed and several thousand wounded in the fight for the key port. British had French casualties were listed by Anglo-French headquarters in Cyprus as "just over 100 killed and wounded," but the wounded were still arriving at casualty stations.

Many of the Port Said's 177,700 inhabitants have fled.
Gen. Sir Charles Keightley, the Anglo-French commander, said Wednesday night that British commandos and paratroopers had advanced to a point near Quantara, about 30 miles south of Port Said. The cease-fire order told them to go no further.

Premier Mollet told the French National Assembly that no French ships had been hit and that only one French plane was lost.

Unofficial returns from 3,822 of 4,052 precincts gave Morton 479,215 votes and Clements 474,898, an edge of 4,417 for Morton.

Morton's expected victory would make the Senate count 49 Democrats and 47 Republicans, the same bare majority the Democrats held before the election.

In Congress the Democrats elected 229 members, 11 more than the necessary majority, and are leading in six undecided races. Present division now is 232 to 203 for Democrats.

Angry Ottawans Rebel While Russians Revel

OTTAWA (CP)—On the curb outside the Soviet ambassador's residence Wednesday night some of the placards read: "You can't kill people by shedding blood." "Stop killing women and children."

Inside the warm residence, Iron Curtain diplomats mingled freely, laughed, toasted the Soviet in vodka and whisky, and ate such delicacies as caviar, salmon coated in a chilled sauce, roast chicken and pork chops, tiny cocktail sausages and sliced cold meat.

It was the annual reception of Ambassador Dmitri Chuvahin in honor of the 39th anniversary of the Russian revolution. But virtually all major Western diplomats in this capital, including the Canadian cabinet, stayed away.

TORONTO (CP)—Canada's foreign policy was called "stupid" Wednesday by Maj.-Gen. W. H. S. Macklin, former adjutant-general of the Canadian army.

North Stars, 'Flying Boxcars' To Take Canadian Force to Suez

(From CP Dispatches)
OTTAWA — The airlift of 1,000 Canadian troops to the Middle East will be the biggest single job taken on by the RCAF's Air Transport Command since the Second World War.

It will strain the resources of the command to the limit.
The command will have, at the most, only 15 North Stars for the job and they probably will have to be augmented by a dozen C-119 Flying Boxcars.

No. 435 Flying Boxcar Squadron already has been ordered from Edmonton to the east to assist, if needed.

Officials say it is conceivable the lift could be carried out in one trip but that would not provide for supplies.

NO U.S. AID

Though the United States had offered originally to transport UN troops to the Middle East, it is now apparent the U.S. will have nothing to do with the UN force for fear that Russia will demand a hand in things.

Meanwhile, the Canadian Army said no particular battalion has yet been assigned to the Suez job.
But there was speculation the 1st Battalion, The Black Watch, based at Camp Aldershot, N.S., might go.

The Canadian contingent will not be ready to move for a few weeks, according to Prime Minister St. Laurent.

He said health precautions, such as inoculations, have to be taken.

UN Pushing Ahead With Suez Police Plan

Israel Takes Defiant Stand; Britain Hesitant to Leave Suez

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United Nations pushed ahead today with its plans for formation of a Middle East police force despite Israeli defiance and British-French refusal to withdraw from the Suez Canal zone until the UN troops are on the spot.

The General Assembly, after an all-day debate, Wednesday night approved Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld's plan for the emergency force to police the ceasefire in Egypt and supervise withdrawal of foreign troops.

The assembly resolution asked the new UN command, headed by Canadian Maj.-Gen. E. L. M.

Burns, "to proceed forthwith with the full organization" of the force. The assembly also adopted a resolution calling on Britain and France "immediately to withdraw their forces from Egyptian territory" and on Israel to pull out of Egypt's Sinai Peninsula and Gaza strip.

The vote approving Hammarskjöld's plan for the force was 64 to 0, with Egypt, Israel, South Africa and the Soviet bloc abstaining. The assembly approved the call for immediate troop withdrawals 65 to 1, with 10 abstentions. Only Israel voted against it.

Israel Won't Agree—Ben Gurion

Israel's refusal to co-operate with the UN force was announced to Parliament in Jerusalem Wednesday by Premier David Ben-Gurion. He said Israel would not agree to the stationing of a foreign force "in her territory or in any of the area occupied by her."

Hammarskjöld said if Israel troops did not withdraw to the Palestine armistice line after the UN force arrived, he would go to the General Assembly or the Security Council "for such measures as those two main organs of the United Nations might decide upon."

Britain's chief delegate, Sir Percy Dixon, said if British and French troops occupying the northern sector of the canal zone "were withdrawn before a United Nations force were to arrive and take control, the separation of (Egypt and Israel) which we have achieved would break down."

Egyptian delegate Omar Loutfi as insistently called for the British, French and Israeli forces to get out at once.

The vote approving Hammarskjöld's plan for the force was 64 to 0, with Egypt, Israel, South Africa and the Soviet bloc abstaining. The assembly approved the call for immediate troop withdrawals 65 to 1, with 10 abstentions. Only Israel voted against it.

Israel Opposes UN Police Force

JERUSALEM (AP)—Premier David Ben-Gurion rejected today proposals for stationing foreign troops "no matter how called" on Israeli territory or areas under Israeli occupation.

Parliament gave him a thumping 88-to-3 vote of confidence on his stand, which appeared to bar Israeli agreement to a UN police force entering the Sinai Peninsula or the Gaza strip, the areas taken by Israel from Egypt in last week's lightning campaign.

Only the Communists sought to censure Ben-Gurion with introduction of a motion alleging the attack on Egypt "disturbed peace and thus endangered Israel's security." It was defeated.

NO FOREIGN FORCES

Ben-Gurion put forth Israel's views in his first address to parliament since the campaign that ended with total occupation of the Sinai Peninsula and the Gaza strip.

In summing up Israel's position concerning efforts to bring peace to the Middle East, he declared: "On no account will Israel agree to the stationing of a foreign force, no matter how called, in her territory or in any of the areas occupied by her."

OTHER POINTS

The 70-year-old premier made these other points:

1. "The armistice agreement with Egypt is dead and buried and cannot be restored to life. In consequence the armistice lines between Israel and Egypt have no more validity."

2. "There is no dispute whatsoever between the people of Israel and of Egypt."

3. "We do not wish our relations with Egypt to continue in the present anarchic state and we are ready to enter direct negotiations without prior conditions."

4. "We hope for such negotiations also with the other Arab states and so long as they observe the armistice agreements, Israel will too."

5. "Israel will not fight against any Arab country or against Egypt unless she is attacked by them."

PRAYERS FOR FALLEN

Only once was the quiet broken, when all present rose in group prayer for 150 Israeli soldiers killed in the campaign. About 700 were wounded and 20 captured.

More than 5,000 Egyptian soldiers were taken prisoner, but the figures on killed and wounded have not been released.

Ben-Gurion said Israeli ground and air forces had destroyed an Egyptian army of about 40,000—three divisions in the Sinai Peninsula and reinforcements of two brigades. He added that a vast quantity of equipment, including tanks, heavy weapons and armored cars had been captured.

DANES, DUTCH ASKED BY UN TO CLEAR SUEZ

COPENHAGEN (AP)—Dag Hammarskjöld, UN secretary-general, asked Denmark and the Netherlands Wednesday to carry through the clearance of the blocked Suez Canal, the Danish state radio said.

In a newscast the radio said the government had approached the Danish salvage company Svitzer, which had declared itself ready to join the task.

Svitzer, with a salvage tug permanently stationed at Aden, said it might have several other ships ready within a short time for the job, earlier estimated to take several months.

HMCS Magnificent Speeding To Halifax for Suez Duty

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA — HMCS Magnificent now at Glasgow, Scotland, received immediate sailing orders Wednesday to proceed at "best speed" — top cruising speed of 20 knots—for Halifax.

The "Maggie" as she is affectionately known in the Royal Canadian Navy, is expected to reach Halifax next Monday where she will be fitted out to act as a temporary mobile Canadian base for the Canadian battalion that is to be sent to the Middle East as part of the UN international police force.

Prime Minister St. Laurent announced here Wednesday following a Cabinet meeting the Magnificent will be used to transport vehicles and stores to the Middle East and also as a temporary mobile base for rations, medical supplies, ammunition, fuel and limited accommodation stores.

The "Maggie" will be the navy's contribution to what is expected to be a tri-service operation for Canada's armed forces. The Magnificent is in an almost ideal state to be quickly utilized as a mobile base.

ATLANTIC FERRY

The navy has been using the aircraft carrier as an Atlantic ferry to take equipment to the new Canadian carrier HMCS Bonaventure. The Magnificent was scheduled to carry RCAF sabre jets back to Canada from Europe, but she left them on the pier at Glasgow.

The Magnificent could reach Suez in about 10 days of steaming plus one day for refueling from Halifax.

All the air arm personnel, aircraft and paraphernalia that accompanies the usual air arm on the Magnificent has been removed from the vessel. She is down to her basic complement of 900 men. In her present stage she is perfectly suited for a "floating base," because of the large amount of hangar space and other free space left by the removal of the air arm equipment and personnel.

Gains From the Gamble

THREE TASKS NOW FACE THE United Nations as the result of the crisis in Egypt.

The first—to be completed as quickly as possible—is to send in the new United Nations police force to assume responsibility for keeping the peace in the trouble area. This may take a week, according to one estimate, but until it is accomplished the situation invites further complications, including intervention by Russian forces.

Canada, incidentally, has earned international regard and appreciation for its action in crystallizing the proposal for a U.N. force and presenting it to the Assembly for adoption. And Canada has set an example to the world in acting immediately to provide forces.

The second task, dependent upon the first, is also contained in the proposal which Mr. Pearson placed before the Assembly. It involves a permanent settlement in the Middle East, particularly in regard to Israeli-Egyptian relations, and assurance that the world will not be periodically troubled by border raids between the two countries and the constant threat that the conflict will spread.

This question will take longer to settle, but it must be done. As Prime Minister Eden told the Commons, the Anglo-French military action has brought the whole problem to a head and forced a United Nations solution which might not otherwise have come about for years.

Third is the problem of controlling the Suez Canal—a problem precipitated by Colonel Nasser's seizure of that important waterway. It appears evident that having undertaken military control of the Suez, the United Nations will be unable to evacuate the area without establishing some guarantee that the canal will forever remain free of further troubles.

While ownership will rest indisputably with Egypt, control of the canal must be free of possible unilateral interference such as it has recently suffered through Colonel Nasser's ambitions.

On the basis of such a program—assuming that it can be carried through without further eruption, which is by no means certain—it appears that Sir Anthony Eden will achieve his immediate objectives, though the long-run results cannot yet be foreseen. He will have given the Middle East—or at least the Israeli-Egyptian portion of it—a chance for a permanent settlement enforced by the power of the United Nations. And he will have brought about establishment of some form of international control of the canal itself.

A by-product of the whole incident—and not an inconsiderable one—no doubt will be a serious diminution in the power of President Nasser, perhaps even his disappearance from the political scene. In any case his aspirations to become the head of a pan-Arabic bloc must have suffered a fatal set-back during the past few days, particularly in that short period when Israeli forces were driving Egyptian troops helter-skelter from the Sinai peninsula.

Finally, and perhaps in the long run the most important development, the United Nations, if it carries out its immediate tasks efficiently, should emerge from the whole situation with enhanced prestige and authority. It will have shown that it was effective in an emergency, that teeth have been added to its recommendations and orders, and that more and more the nations recognize they must observe its decisions.

The U.N. will have strengthened its position as a keeper of the peace—as, indeed, the only ultimate keeper of the peace. Each such success will make its work easier.

Young Canada's Book Week

AS IS ITS CUSTOM, THE Victoria Public Library will mark Young Canada's Book Week with a special display, starting Thursday of next week.

This will include volumes calculated to catch the interest of junior readers and provide for them a broader appreciation of their own country. Several books will be of specific provincial appeal, having been chosen from the bibliography of British Columbia compiled for the centenary.

Primarily Young Canada's Book Week is aimed at the young reader. It will be doubly effective if it also impresses the parent sufficiently to stimulate his purchase of books for his children.

Since the season of gifts is approaching, the thoughtful adult might well visit the library to scan the material considered most desirable by competent authorities for children. A little time spent looking at the exhibit could provide many suggestions for the Christmas list.

Plea for a Salt-Water Park

FOR THE LAST 30 YEARS WEST Coast interests have tried to persuade the Federal Government to establish a national park on Pacific tidewater.

The Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau has been the chief organization spearheading this campaign and it is renewing its efforts now.

The bureau has every reason to revive the proposal. Since it initiated the move over a quarter century ago, the Federal Government has established a number of salt-water parks on the Atlantic seaboard.

No similar provisions have been made for the Pacific. In fact the furthest west national park is located in the Yoho Valley.

The authorities in Ottawa have been kept informed of West Coast desires. Publicity Commissioner George I. Warren, ably supported by the Hon. R. W. Mayhew and W. T. Straith, has presented the case for a Vancouver Island national park on numerous occasions. Among the regions suggested have been the Banfield stretch of seafloor, Long Beach, the Forbidden Plateau and an extension of the provincially created Strathcona Park.

There is a certain urgency to present efforts to have federal authorities designate a particular park reserve. Ottawa is not interested in any location where commercial development is proceeding, be it logging, power or mining.

As industrial expansion takes place in B.C., these special interests are queuing for new territory. Establishment of a park now, in regions where the commercial potential is low, would provide some protection against their possible industrial exploitation. And since the Atlantic region has received consideration, it seems only the course of simple justice to extend the same attention to the West Coast of Canada.

Mr. St. Laurent and the Press

THAT PRIME MINISTER LOUIS St. Laurent occasionally forgets the function of the press in Canada is strongly indicated by his crotchety comments to Ottawa reporters last week. Asked for a statement on Canada's position in the Suez crisis, Mr. St. Laurent snapped that they "should not pry," adding:

"It's too bad that you can't come in to the cabinet meeting and tell us how to do it."

The Prime Minister's surprising lack of courtesy is matched by his disregard for the press function. Reporters do not ask questions to satisfy their own private curiosity. They are the agents of 16 million Canadians who have a vital interest in the current crisis, and are entitled to a courteous statement on the progress of negotiations.

We have no doubt that the Prime Minister was under terrible stress in this crisis. But so were the people of Canada. Their eyes and ears, the reporters, have a duty to ask questions and a right to expect fair answers.

Slaves, They Call Them

AS A GIMMICK IN THEIR FUND raising "Roman Holiday"—a neatly-conceived way of giving a new twist to the old tale of home-cooking, paperback books and whatnots—Oak Bay High School this week offered some of its students for sale on a "slave market."

There is nothing here to stir the ire of any surviving abolitionists. This merely gives to a community the economic explanation of slavery's extinction.

Anyone unlucky enough to buy a student slave from Oak Bay High School would find, were he to seek to enforce his ownership, that slaves drawn from High School eat too much to be profitable, argue too much to be valuable as a labor source, and make too many demands in "fringe benefits" to leave anything but a red entry in the ledger.

Beyond that, they insist on listening to currently popular entertainers improperly classed as vocalists.

High school "slaves" are just too much of a luxury. Moral considerations have nothing to do with the case.

Opportunity Knocks

The Chickens Come Home

THE chickens are coming home to roost. This is the first fact which faces the new Administration. After four comfortable, unwar years, the horizon is positively black with homecoming chickens, some of which look remarkably like vultures. The years of the first Eisenhower administration have produced great achievements to be sure, as well as home-coming chickens. The greatest of these is that the rancid, neurotic bitterness which pervaded and poisoned American life four years ago has now almost wholly seeped away. The Eisenhower administration—almost, it has sometimes seemed, without knowing what it was doing—has well performed the first essential function of conservative government, that of calming passions and consolidating the progress of the past. At least the country is one again, and that is a great advance.

But this great advance has been achieved partly by encouraging a national complacency which is not justified by the facts. And the last two weeks have produced a warning, as loud and ominous as the wailing of a siren. The meaning of the warning is that the Administration has failed to perform effectively the second conservative function, of maintaining the national security and the national interests abroad.

Lucked Through

On the defense and foreign policy front, the Eisenhower administration policy has been to avoid like the plague bold measures which would upset the existing order of things, and to hope for the best. Until very recently, to be sure, this policy has worked rather better than might have been expected. The best has not happened, but neither has the worst. Somehow we have lucked through, without global war or total disaster.

Yet the crises in the Middle East and Eastern Europe mean that we cannot luck through much longer. Take, for example, the Egyptian war. It may be that the French-British-Israeli operation against Egypt will proceed quickly and according to plan, that the Suez Canal will be rapidly reopened, and Nasser and his Arab allies taught a lesson.

But if these things do not happen, the new Administration is going to be faced with a downright dreadful choice, in a matter of a few weeks, for if the canal is not reopened, and the oil pipelines are blown, and France and Britain are cut off from their Middle East oil supplies, they are going to need large injections of American oil and dollar aid to continue to exist economically.

The needed injections may be so large that it will be necessary to call a Special Session of the rump Congress to get the appropriations.

It is hard to imagine a nastier prospect for the new Administration. Yet the alternative is to see the Western alliance finally come apart at the seams, and with it the British base system on which our own Strategic Air Force is inescapably dependent.

The fact is that a basic assumption of American policy—that our allies would always go along with us in the end, because they had to—has been knocked into a cocked hat by the British-French action.

Therefore a reappraisal, however agonizing, of our relations with our allies must be about the first order of business with the new Administration. And the reappraisal will be all the more agonizing because of the stark fact that Americans are as dependent on their allies—especially the British—as they are on the United States.

Painful Implications

Wherever one looks, there are agonizing reappraisals to be made. The brutal suppression of the brave Hungarians by the Soviets may be the signal for a reversion to a colder cold war, with all sorts of painful implications for the new Administration's defense and foreign policy. In any event, the status quo is changing in the Soviet Empire, as everywhere else, and American policy is going to have to be drastically readjusted to meet the change.

Before the Hungarian coup, some of the younger policy-makers in the Administration proposed just such a drastic readjustment, in the form of a conditional offer to withdraw all forces, American and Soviet, from the European continent. At the very least, they reasoned, this would be a major propaganda stroke. At the most, it could mean the end of the satellite empire, since the Red army alone provides the cement which holds the empire together.

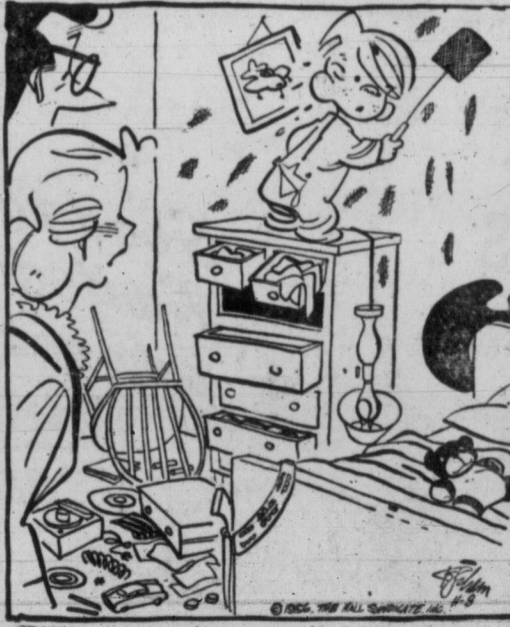

Perhaps the proposal was too risky, and no doubt it is now too late. But the point is that it was almost instinctively rejected, because it implied the kind of basic change in the existing order of things which has been automatically resisted in the first Eisenhower administration. But the existing order of things everywhere is changing whether we like it or not. And if the new Administration does not adjust to the change, and continues to try to luck it through, the chickens, on the horizon will turn out to be vultures in very truth.

Something for the PUC?

As I read and pondered over an item in Monday's Times I wondered if it would be in order to mention it to the Public Utilities Commission for them to pass judgment.

The item I quote: "B.C. Telephone net income jumps $883,922 for the period covering nine months."

Further quote: "For nine months ending Sept. 30, 1956, a net income of $3,682,526 compared with $2,798,604 for same period in 1955; $2,005,781 after providing for dividends on preference and preferred shares."

Would it not be, not only reasonable but justifiable, to ask for some reduction for many phones are linked up in a circuit, a real nuisance at times.

May I ask what is the opinion of others?

Grim Outlook

To those few privileged to hear Dr. Alcorn's address on the subject of mental health given on last Thursday evening at Spencer House, his recital of present-day activities and our serious lack of facilities in hospital room, in nurses and in sufficient competent psychologists, came as a distinct and disturbing shock.

After picturing what he called the "holes" in our defence against the steadily increasing numbers of needy mental cases, Dr. Alcorn pronounced that plight facing our great-grandchildren as "most grim" as in their mature years a couple of generations from now they attempt to cope with and live their lives in an inherited environment which we are passing on down to them.

Dr. Alcorn was most emphatic in his assertion that present-day facilities and knowledge, in fact our whole environment, is not meeting our need. And with present admissions to mental hospitals doubling every four years as they are, he leaves open the question of just who will care for the mentally ill and in what institutions when, 25 years from now, the children of today will reach maturity. And we have been told that at least one child in every 10 will at some time in life need mental care.

Long and Short 'A'

Before I was 11 I was brought up to pronounce the word tomato, in our British army schools in Ireland, as "tow-ma-toe."

It grates on my nerves when I hear it called on radio and elsewhere "tow-may-toe."

There are also many, many words they pronounce wrongly on our Canadian and Victoria programs, and some of the announcers of these advertised articles, yes, and some of our announcers, certainly have rasping voices, particularly the women. Do they get paid well?

Souring on Saanich

By experience, not prejudice, I am very disappointed with the Saanich municipal administration.

When my house was new in 1931 I paid just under $45 per year taxes. Now when my house is 25 years old I pay just over $200. But the councillors say we are getting more services than before and that there has been a re-assessment for equalization. What a ratio plus the fact my house is older!

We had a sidewalk in 1931 but not now. The garbage service is satisfactory but this house is connected to the city sewer. Our police force is larger and quite good but the city police usually get to "Death Hill" on Gorge Road first. We are almost one with the city on school affairs. The road and sewer work of our engineering department leaves much to be desired and they do not want us to make suggestions. Nor do they listen to us who live here and help to pay their salaries.

After forty years the city has removed its street lamp at the corner of Obed and Harriet Roads for which we say thanks for the service given.

Hungary and Middle East

THE drama in Hungary is tragic not only in the sense that it is a bitter sorrow to see so brave a people crushed; it is tragic also in the sense that the outcome has been fatally ordained since the Nagy government lost control of the rebellion. There are, we have every reason to believe, two stages in the liberation of a satellite. The first stage is Titoism or national liberty, which is not anti-Communist and which remains within the Soviet sphere of military and political influence.

Lippmann

The second stage is complete liberty at home and abroad. No country which has once been within the Soviet orbit—not even Yugoslavia—has ever reached the second stage.

The Hungarian tragedy is that the rebellion tried to bypass the first stage, Titoism, and in doing that, it challenged the whole Russian position in eastern Europe. In the past ten days it has been all too evident that if the Hungarian rebellion could not be stabilized about where Gomulka has stabilized the Polish rebellion, it was running into terrible danger.

New Conception

Shortly before the Red army struck, on Tuesday, Oct. 30, the Soviet government made the statement which so impressed President Eisenhower. It outlined a new conception of eastern Europe—that of a "commonwealth of Socialist states." It was in essence a declaration that the Soviet Union would settle for Titoism. By Sunday, Nov. 4, the Red army had crushed the Hungarian rebellion.

The question is whether or not the Russian action on Sunday canceled the Tuesday declaration of Soviet policy. On the answer to that question may depend Saanich has now had two months to replace this lamp and our municipal clerk says the hook-up is simple.

Was the re-assessment for our good, for the outlying people or for Royal Oak? Why was not the mill rate lowered if the assessment was raised? I thought that the more business a department or mail order firm did the lower the rates would be. Not so in Saanich. When I delivered the papers we looked for the houses but now we stare for a vacant lot and our taxes are five times the 1931 rate. I have enquired of the city taxes nearby and find I should be better off with amalgamation.

We the taxpayers voted against additions to Royal Oak offices but what was the use of our voting? Now a joint municipal hall is wanted but I think I'll vote no—once bitten, twice shy. Let us consider amalgamation.

The "Garden of Vancouver Island" could start at Royal Oak and be one with Central Saanich while south of Royal Oak could be Greater Victoria. As a starter we could save on municipal staffs and expensive equipment, eliminate a fire hall on Douglas Street and save on councillors and a reeve.

Rooming House Sinks

It is proposed to enforce the law that every room in a rooming house should have a sink. I have several personal friends who live in rooming houses and I cannot see that a sink would add to either their health or their comfort.

Some rooms are quite small and the water and drain pipes would not be artistic.

Many rooming houses are old and the expense of additional plumbing would be economically unsound even if the proprietor were a philanthropic millionaire.

Proprietors of rooming houses are not millionaires and would probably have a hard time borrowing money for their purpose (roughly $200 a sink, and that does not include redecoration). It would be considered a poor financial risk as few of the tenants would be able to pay the higher rent incurred. Where do these poor tenants go from here?

If the authorities are anxious to do a little slum clearance they might start on rooming houses where a tenant occupies a room that gets no daylight or on apartments where a family of five has only one bedroom.

Love and Loyalty

The enclosed letter and resolution has been duly approved, and forwarded to the Prime Minister of Great Britain, Sir Anthony Eden:

Rt. Honorable Sir Anthony Eden, Prime Minister of Great Britain.

Dear Sir:

The Victoria Branch of the Royal Society of St. George sends you greetings and best wishes.

Congratulations to you and to our loved country for your prompt and successful action in the Middle East, in the interests of peace and goodwill.

We recall your splendid action in 1938, in resigning from the Government, rather than to support further the appeasement policy which was leading to war and which ultimately led to world war.

For our part we can find no useful purpose in the United Nations as an instrument for peace. It is in all respects a good debating society, where the nations can get better acquainted with each other; but it is no more effective in preventing war than was the old League of Nations, which could rely only on British support for swift action.

We are in complete agreement with your statement over the air, that you believe the time will come when Canada and the United States will support the quick intervention of England and France, in order to prevent a major world disaster.

We herewith pledge our love and loyalty to the Land of our Birth, to England, Mother of the Free.

FROM WASHINGTON By WALTER LIPPMANN

Hungary and Middle East

THE drama in Hungary is tragic not only in the sense that it is a bitter sorrow to see so brave a people crushed; it is tragic also in the sense that the outcome has been fatally ordained since the Nagy government lost control of the rebellion. There are, we have every reason to believe, two stages in the liberation of a satellite. The first stage is Titoism or national liberty, which is not anti-Communist and which remains within the Soviet sphere of military and political influence.

The second stage is complete liberty at home and abroad. No country which has once been within the Soviet orbit—not even Yugoslavia—has ever reached the second stage.

The Hungarian tragedy is that the rebellion tried to bypass the first stage, Titoism, and in doing that, it challenged the whole Russian position in eastern Europe. In the past ten days it has been all too evident that if the Hungarian rebellion could not be stabilized about where Gomulka has stabilized the Polish rebellion, it was running into terrible danger.

Shortly before the Red army struck, on Tuesday, Oct. 30, the Soviet government made the statement which so impressed President Eisenhower. It outlined a new conception of eastern Europe—that of a "commonwealth of Socialist states." It was in essence a declaration that the Soviet Union would settle for Titoism. By Sunday, Nov. 4, the Red army had crushed the Hungarian rebellion.

The question is whether or not the Russian action on Sunday canceled the Tuesday declaration of Soviet policy. On the answer to that question may depend the fate of Poland, and the prospect elsewhere in the Soviet orbit. The answer will show whether within the Soviet government there has now been a return to Stalinism, or whether Titoism, but not more than Titoism, is the Soviet policy.

When we turn to the Middle East, we find ourselves in the preliminary and exploratory phases of a new policy. We have not prevented the British, French and Israeli intervention, nor have we been able to stop it, and we have not, as our action in the United Nations implied that we would, been able to restore the status quo ante. A new policy cannot now be adopted until the Anglo-French military operation is concluded and its results known and appraised.

Reach Objectives

In our planning at this moment we have to assume that the British and French will reach their military objectives and that organized Egyptian resistance will have ceased. It is at this point, but only at this point when there is in fact a cease-fire, that a United Nations police force could take over. The United Nations force could not intervene in the battle.

With Gratitude

SHE'S almost eighty now, helpless, speechless, and strangely heavy in a dreadful kind of way. Death, the letters say with infinite sadness, would be a blessing and release.

But she wasn't always like this. I remember her as a plump, middle-aged matron before her soft brown hair was streaked with grey.

I remember her as the mistress of a big house in the Flemish part of Belgium. I remember her domesticity and her unshakable calm, inherited, perhaps, from her Quaker forebears.

I remember her stories of how, at the outbreak of the First World War, she sheltered refugees in her house. She, who so loved peace and order, put up as many makeshift beds as she could and served out meals under conditions that must have been a shock to her orderly little soul.

I remember, too, how she and the children had eventually to flee to Holland en route to England. And the moment they crossed the frontier, both the children came down with a very bad attack of measles.

I remember how they all went back to Belgium as soon as the war was finished, and how she put her house to rights again after the German occupation. (I remember how the children used to play in the concrete pill-box in the wood at the bottom of the garden, and how the lower part was always filled with water in the winter time.)

I remember her years of untiring work for the Red Cross and for disabled soldiers. I remember the removal when, at her husband's retirement, they went to live in the south of France.

It was a lovely house with real picture windows that looked towards the Pyrenees, and over pinewoods to the Bay of Biscay. I remember so well the solid comfort of it, and how, for all her money, she loved working in the kitchen and the garden.

I'll never forget her deeply-ingrained sense of responsibility for her servants and their families. (She dispensed drugs and good advice for rheumatic backs, smelly feet and stomach trouble. She saw to it that red-haired Alice wasn't left without a friend when the silly child found herself landed with an illegitimate baby. There was a certain amount of clucking, naturally, but we children were shown that Alice couldn't be thrown to the dogs and the village censors.) I remember, too, how when the phony war was over, she had to flee once more to England along with her husband and daughter-in-law. With other refugee civilians, they went on some kind of British warship.

And when she eventually wrote to us from England, there was no mention of hardships, or of all the possessions she had to leave behind. Instead, she wrote with interested thankfulness that she'd saved some special seeds from the garden and new plants were growing safely now in England.

There may be little point in writing this. But I loved this aunt of mine. And, during this past week, when talk of war has loomed up again, I've thought of those precious seeds, and how, even in the rush of leaving all else behind, she remembered to pop them in her handbag.

Yes, I remember her with gratitude. Not just because she was very good to me, but because, throughout my adult life, she's always seemed a symbol of quiet domesticity.

Wherever she was, she made a peaceful home. And it wasn't just her money, either. It was, I think, her practical simplicity and the quietness of her spirit.

YOUR HEALTH

Eight Hours Sleep Good

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

For ages it has been the experience of many men that it is advisable to get eight hours sleep at night. People who get this amount of sleep are likely to stay well and to avoid a nervous breakdown. Recently, at a meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, Drs. H. E. Lewis and J. P. Masterton reported some observations of the number of the British North Greenland Expedition, who, during the 24-hour-long nights of the Arctic winter, were allowed to sleep at any time and for as long as they wanted. During the long period of darkness the men would go to bed or take naps at any time during the day or night. At first it looked as if they were sleeping too much, but when a record was kept, and the hours of sleep were totaled up for a month, it was found that the men averaged 7.9 hours in each 24.

As we all know, there are many persons, and even persons who work very hard and who stay well, who seem to need much less sleep than this. Many of us will remember reading that Edison needed only a few hours of sleep, but I have read statements of his fellow-workers to the effect that, during the day, he took many a short snooze.

To me, one of the most wonderful things about science is that all of the many fields are interrelated. A discovery in one field is likely to make possible discoveries in other fields. For instance, I was just reading how much physiologists have learned about the action of nerves and about the action of nerves on body chemistry by using the large single nerve cell which runs down a squid's back. Most nerves in the body are bundles of nerve fibers which often have different sizes, and several different functions. Physiologists have always wished that they could study one nerve fibre and one large enough so that they could see it and handle it. Then along came biologists who had been studying squids, and they showed the physiologists where to find just the type of nerve that they had been looking for.

I was just reading also how, for the last five years, Dr. Arnold Lazarow and Dr. Sherwin Cooperstein have been learning much about diabetes by studying the so-called islets of Langerhans in the toad-fish. In most animals these little islets, containing the special beta cells which produce insulin, are scattered throughout the pancreas, or the large digestive gland which lies behind the stomach.

Because in most animals these cells are mixed up with the very different digestive cells of the pancreas, details of their internal chemistry could not be studied. Then along came experts on fish who told the physiologists that in the ugly toad fish the beta cells are all gathered together into a separate and discrete gland. Now the physiological chemists are learning how the beta cells work and breathe, and how they make insulin; and some day this knowledge will probably be of great help in enabling a diabetic mother to get a live and healthy baby.

As I have said several times in this column, no one must ever make fun of a scientist who seems to be studying something useless. We never can tell and out of his apparently silly study can come one of the greatest advances in medicine. For example, penicillin was discovered because Dr. Fleming, an expert on germs, got to wondering why, when a colony of a certain mold grew on his culture plates, it was surrounded by a zone in which no bacteria grew. He guessed correctly that out of the colony of the mold there must be streaming some substance which interfered with the growth of germs, and he also guessed that this substance, if isolated, might be a life-saving medicine.

ROYAL JELLY FROM QUEEN BEES

At the recent International Congress of Entomology (study of insects) Rene Chauvin, of France, reported experiments with royal jelly which is the substance that, when fed to a small bee, produces a big queen. In recent years a good many persons have hoped that this royal jelly might prove to be a wonderful medicine for man—a tonic or perhaps a rejuvenator. Dr. Chauvin injected royal jelly into rabbits and found it produced changes in their white blood cells, and in the chemistry of their adrenal glands. When injected into mice and rats, there was very little effect on the growth of the animal, and there was no constant effect on the sex glands. There were, however, decided changes in the chemistry of the adrenal glands.

In the case of human beings, intramuscular injections of the substance caused a diminution in the white blood count, and some changes in the chemistry of the adrenal glands. These injections seemed to produce a euphoria or a feeling of good health, and a renewal of strength and appetite.

Hence the north coast is experiencing fresh to strong winds and rain while the northern interior has had considerable snow turning to rain in a few sections. The southern section will get only scattered showers as the storms move inland. One disturbance has passed inland over the north coast overnight and will continue eastward across the province today. The next is just developing far to the southwest but will reach the outer coast about noon Friday.

MARSHALL FIELD

Croesus-Rich Publisher, Merchant Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Marshall Field III, 63, multi-millionaire merchant, died today in New York Hospital.

Field underwent brain surgery at the hospital Oct. 21. Until today he had been described as in fair condition.

Field inherited one of the world's greatest fortunes—in the neighborhood of $160,000,000—from his merchant grandfather, founder of the Chicago department store bearing his name.

Field inherited his immense fortune in several instalments. As a young man, Field was interested in polo, airplanes, fox hunting, horse racing and the like, and his social set included the Prince of Wales, later the Duke of Windsor.

As he outgrew his "playboy" phase, Field became deeply interested in philanthropy and social service, particularly for the welfare of children.

He expanded his enterprises and founded The Chicago Sun in 1941 as a supporter of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In 1942 he became sole owner of the New York tabloid PM, which he had helped to found as a stockholder in 1940. In 1946 he sold PM, and it became the short-lived New York Star. Later it became The Compass and then folded forever.

The Chicago Sun, later The Sun-Times, became an established newspaper in Chicago and in 1950 Field's son, actually the fourth of the family to bear the name, became its editor and publisher.

Two Incumbents Should Retire
City Council Candidate Claims

Victoria aldermanic candidate Hugh Ramsay today called upon two city aldermen, whose terms expire in December, to decline re-nomination "in the public interest."

Without naming them, he described Ald. Don Smith and Ald. Arthur Dowell by their records. "One alderman has already accepted responsibilities as a member of the B.C. Legislature. (Ald. Smith was elected as an MLA on a Social Credit platform recently.)

"Another alderman, whose term in office is due for renewal in December, has been in the habit of enjoying two-month winter vacations. (Ald. Dowell and Ald. Pinfold both took long vacations last winter.

Ald. Pinfold has already resigned from council.) "I don't think a person should offer himself for council unless he can devote himself to the job."

"Both these aldermen should follow the lead of Ald. Pinfold who has resigned from office because he realizes his personal business would interfere with the carrying out his duties for the city."

Mr. Ramsay, co-proprietor of a local machine shop, is making his second bid for office. He was defeated in the 1955 council election.

He also was defeated in an attempt to gain a Saanich legislative seat on a Liberal platform in the recent provincial election.

BUSINESS LICENCE FIGHT

Council Misleading Public, Says Smith

Alderman Don Smith said Wednesday the public is being misled by council statements regarding his campaign to equalize business licences.

"To infer no action can be taken without provincial legislation is not a statement of fact," he said.

"Council has all the power necessary to increase business licences, the same power as New Westminster and other cities under the present Municipal Act."

He said in Vancouver and Edmonton 7 per cent of the city revenue is from business licences and the percentage is greater in New Westminster. In Victoria it is 4 per cent.

Ald. Smith said he will continue to campaign for increased licence fees despite the mayor's contention that no other alderman would serve on the committee to investigate licensing.

He said he has written the mayor asking for appointment of a third alderman.

"It seems futile for Ald. Curtis and myself to bring in a report to a prejudiced council. However, if another member is appointed, the report, supported by weight of public opinion, will demand action."

Ald. Smith was called out of "... council has power"

5-Man Labor Committee to Probe Business Licensing in Victoria

A five-man committee was appointed by Victoria Labor Council Wednesday to investigate business licensing in Victoria, Vancouver, Edmonton, Calgary and New Westminster.

Action follows a statement by Mayor Percy Scurrell Wednesday which terms "absurd" the suggestion Victoria could realize an additional $175,000 annually from business licences.

The figure was given by Ald. Don Smith, chairman of a committee named to investigate business licensing for report to council.

NEVER PUBLISHED

IWA delegate Edwin Haw also asked for an inquiry on a report made to the city's business licence committee in 1951. He claimed it has never seen the light of day.

"The mayor has made certain statements we cannot accept as intelligent citizens," he said, then quoted from the Times:

"Mayor Scurrell said none of the other aldermen on city council except Ald. Curtis and Smith would serve on the committee."

"They know their hands are tied by the Municipal Act, and they can't do anything."

"I submit the statements by the mayor are incorrect," said Mr. Haw.

The Municipal Act gives city council the authority to charge businesses a proper fee, he said.

"For the matter of $175,000, stated by Ald. Smith, anyone who sits down and realizes the amount of business this city does ... could realize the figure could be small ..."

Mr. Haw pointed to B.C. Forest Products, a large business which makes "very high profits for their investments. They pay a pittance in business licence. So do VMD (Victoria Machinery Depot), Safeway's, Hudson's Bay Co., Woodward's, insurance companies. ..."

"We could do the citizens of Victoria a service by bringing this to the attention of voters and put the pressure on elected representatives in City Hall."

CONFIDENTIAL
Council president John MacKenzie said he had been told the 1951 committee report was confidential and not for publication. On contacting Ald. Millard Mooney, who was chairman of the committee then, he was assured any document in City Hall is public property.

Mr. MacKenzie said he knew of a six-room rooming house in the city which pays $3 a year in licence fee. On a per-room basis the Empress Hotel pays the same, he said, adding tax structure in the city could be properly applied.

Considerably more is paid by comparable businesses in Vancouver and New Westminster, the president stated.

"Businesses all over this town are not paying a penny in licence fees."

To serve with him on the committee are Mr. Haw, Ernie Oliver, George Banfield and Neil Hindle.

Saanich Approves Longer Terms For Parks Group

A plan which would alter constitution of Victoria-Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee has been endorsed by Saanich.

Membership of the group is now drawn from councillors and aldermen of the two councils and changes from year to year with new council additions.

Plan is to give the committee a greater degree of continuity by appointing persons for a specified period.

Also proposed was a change in name to "cosmopolitan" beaches and parks committee, which Saanich rejected.

Oct. 24, from Amman, and there was no evidence in it that they knew anything was going to happen. And they know the top officials there intimately," Dr. Newton said.

Park Sites Donated By Powell River Co.

250 Attend Salt Spring Island Ceremony; Deeds to 50 Acres Presented to Gaglardi

By DON INGHAM
Times Island Editor

GANGES—Deeds to two parcels of land suitable for development as park sites were given to the B.C. government Wednesday night by the Powell River Co. Ltd. at a ceremony attended by 250 island residents and visitors.

John E. Liersch, vice-president, made the presentation, and Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi accepted in the absence of Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston.

The ceremony took place at the annual dinner meeting of Salt Spring Island Chamber of Commerce in Mahon Hall.

"These two parcels of land consist of 45 acres on Cusheon Lake, and approximately five acres at what you call 'view point' on Stewart Road," Mr. Liersch said.

TREE FARM

The Powell River Co. has acquired "several thousand" acres on Salt Spring Island to develop as a tree farm, similar to its holdings on Galiano and Valdes Islands, Mr. Liersch said.

"We have started thinning our stands on Galiano," he said. "We have a policy there of contracting cutting to Galiano residents only, and hope to do the same on Salt Spring."

Mr. Gaglardi, in accepting the deeds said British Columbia is one of the last of the great frontiers, but is developing faster than any other province in Canada."

BEST IN WORLD

"Geologists say the Peace River oil and gas fields will be the greatest in the world, and in the field of hydro-electric power we have 166 known power sites we haven't even begun to develop."

"The Moran dam alone in the Lillooet Valley, if built, will be larger than both Grand Coulee and Boulder dams combined," he said.

Chairman Gavin Mouat explained to members and guests that the original purpose of the meeting had been to pay a compliment to recently appointed Trade and Industry Minister Earle Westwood, member of the Legislature for Nanaimo and the Islands.

The new minister said the most impressive single item about his department was the fact that development now under way in B.C. is valued at $1,800,000,000.

"We're on the threshold of the greatest expansion we've ever known," he said.

Gaglardi to Study Ferry Link For French Creek, Lasqueti Is.

Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi indicated Wednesday he would do all in his power to see that Lasqueti Island, 10 miles off Parksville, gets a ferry connection with Vancouver Island.

He said he will make a personal survey of the situation.

The minister was presented with a brief outlining necessity for a car-passenger service between False Bay, largest community on the gulf island, and French Creek, near Parksville.

The brief was presented by recently-formed Lasqueti Chamber of Commerce members Fred Bennett, president; Charlie Williams, vice-president, and 40-year resident of the island; Compton Domville, secretary-treasurer, with Ron Thwaites, president of Parksville Chamber of Commerce, and executive member Sam Gough supporting the request.

Twice Monthly

Only scheduled service at present is a Union Steamships coastal freighter from Vancouver which stops twice monthly. This service will be suspended March 31, 1957.

There is a water taxi service between False Bay and French Creek, but the $15 fare each way is prohibitive in most cases.

There are 300 persons on the island working at logging, agriculture and fishing. They own more than 70 cars and trucks.

There are no dentists or doctors on the island and persons requiring treatment must take either the water taxi, at $30 a trip, or the steamer to go to Vancouver, entailing a two-week stop-over.

There is no high school on Lasqueti, so students must attend Parksville or Qualicum schools. With the high cost of water taxi they rarely get home during the school term, even though home is within sight of the schools, the brief pointed out.

Mr. Gaglardi said he will make a personal survey of the situation.

Your hair will fit nicer if it is cut in the old-fashioned "comb-and-scissors" way. Just try it; make an appointment by phoning 5-2855.

Crofton Awaits Pulp Mill Boost

By DON INGHAM
Times Island Editor

CROFTON—This community of 150 families, that has been dozing on the shore of Osborn Bay for 50 years, is looking forward to a new era of health, wealth, and prosperity as a result of establishment of a B.C. Forest Products Ltd. pulp mill close by.

But it is not here yet. Despite the current construction payroll, and land speculation, the people who should know expect Crofton's new era will not begin until the mill is in production.

By that time, it is hoped, full-time employees of the mill will settle in the district, and a community of prosperous homeowners will become a fact.

"At least, that is what we businessmen are hoping for," J. S. Dyke, grocer and postmaster, told the Times. "Most of the construction money goes out of the district. What we want to see is people who will settle here, build their own homes, raise families, and take an interest in the community."

"We don't know, of course, if the people that will work in the mill will want to live here," Mr. Dyke continued. "However, we feel Crofton is hard to beat. Our climate is as good as that anywhere on the Island, our hunting, fishing and swimming are wonderful, and we're centrally located. Pulp mill workers that don't want to live here will be missing a bet."

Donald Dickie, real estate operator, said homes are badly needed in the district, but that some building activity is expected next year.

"Already people from up-coast points—probably pulp workers—are buying property here, and there are plenty of others interested. Our busiest times are still ahead," he said.

Gordon Spence, who has charge of the Canadian Bank of Commerce branch under the direction of manager Arthur J. Bird, Chemainus, said that to his knowledge no one is expecting any great development of the village until the mill is into production.

"At least half of the 700 men working on the mill now are from the mainland," he said. "Most of their cheques are cashed in Duncan, although Na-naimo gets a fair proportion. We get very few."

Certainly there is plenty of evidence of faith in the community's future. The Crofton Hotel is being enlarged, work has started on a building to house the Royal Bank of Canada and post office, a building with space for two stores and a second floor offices has been completed, a new bungalow court has been opened, and ever piece of property on Joan Avenue, main street of the town, has been bought.

The weightiest arguments in favor of a growing Crofton can be found in the North Cowichan municipal hall in Duncan, administrative headquarters for the huge municipality that includes Crofton, Chemainus, Maple Bay, Westholme, and the urban area on the northern boundary of Duncan.

"Last year the municipality set up a zoning by-law that lays out industrial, commercial and residential areas in Crofton," said A. VandeCasteyen, municipal clerk.

"The community has its own water system, and it will be surveyed in a sewer report now being prepared on the whole of the municipality. The municipality owns a lot of land in the area which it hopes to sell eventually for building lots."

"The council hopes Crofton will develop into a nice community within the municipality, and the company hopes so also," Mr. VandeCasteyen said, "because a pulp mill is a 24-hour per day operation, the company prefers to have its employees close by if possible."

10 Totem Poles Bought By UBC

The University of B.C. has used an H. R. MacMillan donation to purchase 10 totem pole sections from descendants of the native carvers.

The cedar poles, greyed by weather and lichen, come from Hope, Village and Turner Islands and Rivers Inlet at the north end of Vancouver Island. They will be kept under cover at the university.

The poles, mostly house posts weighing up to 1,200 pounds each, are valuable historic and anthropological relics of the province, a university spokesman said.

1101 Government Street

Here's how it works:—

1 The customer obtains from the branch a stout canvas bag, closed with a zipper and with its own heavy lock. The customer receives a key for his wallet and in addition a different key to open the Night Depository any time.

2 Cash is placed in the bag, the zipper closed, and the bag locked. The customer takes it to the bank, and opens, with his own key, the specially designed safety door which is on the outside wall of the bank building.

3 The bag is then placed in a specially constructed compartment in the open door. When this is closed, it locks automatically and the bag containing the cash drops into a vault inside the bank.

4 The following morning the bank opens the customer's wallet and credits the contents to his account automatically. During the day the customer calls at the bank and obtains the empty wallet.

This new service is particularly convenient and practical for restaurants, food markets, stores, theatres and other establishments which stay open in the evenings and need a safe place to leave cash overnight. Enquire at the branch.

Other Areas Share City's School Jump

Greater Victoria's rapidly expanding school population creates problems common to many other parts of B.C. today.

District 61 school trustees point out that in the years 1954 to 1956 Greater Victoria students have increased in number 9.2 per cent. But many other centres in the same period have experienced increases even greater.

Coquitlam's school expansion is 12.3 per cent, Alberni 9.9, Vancouver Island as a whole registered an increase of 7.9 per cent and Central B.C. was up 10.9. Northwestern B.C., where Kitimat's increase of 350 per cent was included, showed an increase of 18.1 per cent. The increase for the province generally was 7.1 per cent.

The school board has presented Greater Victoria ratepayers with a $5,600,000 building program. Voters will register approval or disapproval at December elections. The vote requires a 60 per cent majority to pass.

OLYMPIA OYSTER GOING WAY OF WHOOPING CRANE

OLYMPIA, Wash. (UP)—The tiny Olympia oyster, is a vanishing breed.

The delicate bivalves, natives of lower Puget Sound, have been dying at a rate which has oyster men clamoring for an answer to the cause and a means of curbing it.

Oyster men predict that 90 per cent of the Olympia oyster industry will be wiped out within a year if mortalities continue at present rates. Some say the oyster is not long for this world.

The death cause is the centre of a heated controversy. Oyster men generally blame pulp mill pollution.

20,000 KW Atom-Electric Power For Ontario Hydro Due by 1959

When Canada's first atomic power station goes into operation in 1959, it will send about 20,000 kilowatts of electricity into the power distribution lines of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario.

It is being built near the hydro-electric power station at Des Juchins on the Ottawa River, about 150 miles northwest of Ottawa and some 20 miles from the Chalk River establishment of Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd.

Details of the new station are given in a 96-page booklet entitled "Atomic Energy in Canada," published this week by Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd.

Design of the reactor for the station, which is based on heavy water processes pioneered at Chalk River, is being done by Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd. at its plant at Peterborough, Ont.

CGE CONTRIBUTES

The CGE is contributing $2,000,000 towards the cost of the reactor and is responsible for the provision, construction, installation and testing of equipment in the station.

The Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario is doing the engineering for the conventional part of the station consisting of steam generator, turbine and electricity generator.

The commission has provided the station site and will operate the plant as part of its Ontario power system.

"The station will not produce electricity at a cost as low as that produced by conventional power plants," because of its experimental and pioneering nature," the booklet says.

It will, however, provide valuable technical data and information on the economics of this type of plant. This information, which will be available to power companies throughout Canada, is needed for the design of, and for estimating the costs of, larger atomic power plants.

A preliminary design and feasibility study for a large power reactor—in the range of 100,000 to 200,000 kilowatts—is being carried out at Chalk River by a nuclear power branch which consists of AECL staff and representatives of various power companies across the country.

INSPECTION INVITED

Power-producing organizations in various parts of Canada are being invited to send personnel to work at the Chalk River plant, and are kept informed on atomic power through the advisory committee on atomic power development.

The committee, consisting of senior executives of the utilities, meets periodically at Chalk River. The atomic energy booklet costs $1 and may be ordered from the company's plant at Chalk River. It contains 98 photographs, 53 diagrams and four maps.

The maps show the location of Canada's principal uranium mining areas, the Chalk River project, the uranium refinery of Eldorado Mining and Refining Ltd., the Canada-India reactor, near Bombay, and the village of Deep River.

Methods of producing radioactive isotopes and their application in medicine, industry and agriculture are shown in a series of photos and diagrams.

China Seeks Heavy Trade With Canada

The demand for fertilizer in China is so great the annual requirements of the Shanghai area alone would absorb the total production of the Trail plant of Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, Trade and Industry Minister Earle Westwood said Wednesday.

The minister was commenting on a report that China is interested in buying fertilizer, lumber, coastal and inland ships and fishing vessels from Canada.

"There is a tremendous demand for fertilizer in China and Canada could help satisfy the demand," Mr. Westwood said. He stated that China is also anxious to buy mining and road-building equipment, chemicals, pulp and paper.

"At the present time we import from China about five times as much as we export to China," Mr. Westwood said. "Because of restrictions on exports and the increased demand for Chinese products on the world market, China has accumulated considerable supplies of foreign currency."

"This means that the payments problem apparently is not of decisive importance. However, increasing Chinese purchases in Canada would eventually necessitate increased Canadian purchases of Chinese goods."

Dominion Bridge Low Bidder for Second Narrows

Low bid on a contract for construction of the major part of the new Second Narrows Bridge was submitted Wednesday by the Dominion Bridge Co. Ltd. The amount was $12,399,112.

Tenders were opened by Premier Bennett as chairman of the B.C. Toll Highways and Bridges Authority.

Only one other bid—for $13,354,410—was entered by Western Bridge and Steel Fabricators Ltd.

Bids indicate the government will build the bridge for a price within the $16,500,000 originally estimated.

Substructure of the span is currently being built by Peter Kiewit and Sons and Raymond International. Their price is in the vicinity of $4,000,000.

Victoria Architects Will Be Hired For Extensive New Building Program

Department of education standardized plans for school construction have been found unsuitable to local needs in the proposed 1956 school building program.

Board officials said today local architects will be engaged. The school board feels this system is just as economical.

The departmental plans are for schools of from one to eight rooms and are not designed for expansion. Locally, it is expected most of the six-room elementary schools will be expanded to 10 or more classrooms in the near future.

(Department of education officials say about 22 B.C. schools are now being built to department standardized plans. They offer expandable designs, by which schools can be enlarged as required. A plan for combination elementary-high schools is now under study. No charge is made for the plans but a small fee is due after the school is complete. It is considerably lower than an architect's fee, the department spokesman said.)

REPEAT PLANS

Greater Victoria School Board has developed basic plans such as were employed for the Glenford and Gordon Head Schools. The trustees are negotiating with architects to repeat these plans at the lowest possible cost, probably a royalty for their use again.

The officials add that if a school was built to a departmental plan it would involve almost as great an expenditure because, besides the fee for the plan, the board would have to increase its staff.

This would be necessary in order to supervise construction, which is normally done by the architect.

It is further pointed out that standardized plans can rarely be used without alteration by local architects as various sites cause differences in foundation requirements.

FULTON BLASTS PEARSON OVER ACTION IN UN

VANCOUVER (CP)—E. Davie Fulton, candidate for national leadership of the Progressive Conservative party, charged Wednesday that External Affairs Minister Lester Pearson made a "gross error in judgment" when he voted with Communist countries in the UN Security Council against Britain, "our oldest ally."

Mr. Pearson's vote for immediate withdrawal of British and French forces from Egypt was inconsistent with his later proposal for a United Nations force to police the area, the Kamloops MP told meetings at the University of British Columbia and Chilliwack Wednesday.

Mr. Fulton was scheduled to arrive in Victoria late this afternoon to address a public meeting tonight at 8 at St. Mary's Hall, Oak Bay.

Bargain Basement Price Irks Drakes' Salesmen

WHAT'S THE SCORE?

BY

Denny Boyd

Don Higgs, who was there, claims the balloon went up for the Oak Bay Drakes when the blinds went up that snowy morning in Fort William last year.

Don, as you may know, is the non-playing half of the famous Higgs Brothers football family. Ken is the fullback who graduated locally to the B.C. Lions while Don, who broke his back in his early playing years and then devoted himself to exhaustive study of the game's intricacies, is one of the most knowledgeable and placid-nerved coaches around.

Last year, the Oak Bay Drakes and coach Don Douglas parted company in the midst of the city playoffs.

The Drakes executive asked Don Higgs to take over the club. Don, at the time, was coaching the junior team, having taken a solemn vow not to touch an intermediate team with a 10-foot yardstick.

However, Don relented and boarded a plane with the Drakes as they trimmed tabs and headed for Fort William and the Western Canadian intermediate final.

Being a dabbler in psychology, Don started talking the game up as soon as the island coast was cleared. He went back into history to tell of massive upsets scored by unknown teams. He built up Drakes' confidence to a point where they wanted to stop off at Edmonton, and challenge Pop Ivy's bunch.

Confidence Buried By Blizzard

Once at Fort William, Don hustled the players to a football field for a workout and then herded them back to their hotel for a lengthy skull session. Through all the activity, he pounded away at the players, insisting they could beat the mighty Fort William Redskins.

By supper time of the day before the game, Don's larynx was worn and swollen but the players were believing everything he had told them. They were bursting with confidence and couldn't wait for the game.

That night, Don herded all the players off to bed at 9.45, no easy task with last year's Drakes team, by the way.

As Don says, "When they hit the sack, there wasn't one player on the club who wasn't convinced they could win that game."

"Then, the next morning, they woke up, raised the blinds and that did it."

Outside their windows, the Drakes saw a swirling, blinding blizzard, the likes of which the boys from the coast had never seen in their lives.

"Right then," says Higgs, "As soon as they lifted the blinds and saw that blizzard, we were a beaten ball club."

Memory Leaves An Icy Feeling

The Drakes, like The Poor Little Match Girl, perished horribly in that blizzard. Frozen and flustered, they absorbed a 38-0 whumping at the less frostbitten hands of the 'Skins.

Drakes probably won't be able to scare up a reciprocal blizzard this Saturday. As a matter of fact, they probably will settle amicably for a warm, dry day to guarantee traction for Rick Ginn's tank-like rushes and tackiness for those damaging Tom Sanregret-Pete Turko passes that can break up a game faster than a deflated ball.

The Drakes are aiming at this one like a hungry wolf aiming at a pork chop. The memory of that frozen field in Fort William, when their title hopes blew away in a swirl of blast-driven snow, leaves an icy feeling in their stomachs. They want to thaw it out.

Vic High Booters Gain Playoff Spot

Victoria High School opened up a four-point bulge over second-place Oak Bay in the Inter-High Soccer League on Wednesday as they downed Mount View, 1-0.

Wednesday's game, last contest of the schedule for the Vic High club, was also their toughest victory of the year.

Lone goal-getter was Tom Collett, who raised his season output to five goals with a well-placed kick midway through the second half.

Receiving an assist on the play was Lance Rutherford, who had seen an earlier goal disallowed

Dickie Does Crutch Duty For Canyons

By The Canadian Press
Montreal Canadiens, with stars missing fore and aft, were supposed to act like cripples, but it seems a forward by the name of Dickie Moore didn't read the papers.

Rightwinger Bernie Geoffrion, a 62-point man last season, and goalie Jacques Plante were missing when Canadiens rolled into Toronto for Wednesday night's game with the Maple Leafs. Plante has the flu and Geoffrion is recovering from an operation on his injured elbow.

Moore shot the Habs into a lead with the game less than five minutes old and tacked on two more goals later to power his team to a 4-3 win.

Toronto was thus dropped to fourth spot while Canadiens moved into a second-place deadlock with Boston Bruins, who defeated the Rangers 4-2 at New York in the other game.

The Wings with 14 points hold a bare one-point edge, and Montreal, with the Leafs a point back, are at 12. The Rangers stayed in fifth spot with nine points and Chicago Black Hawks, who haven't had a victory since Oct. 30, remain in the basement with three points.

Down 1-0 at the time of Red Sullivan's second-period goal, Boston piled on the power when Lou Fontinato with a pair of minors and Jack Evans went to the bin.

STASHUK GETS FIRST

Vic Stashuk slapped one past Lorne Worsley on a pass from Cal Gardner and Leo Labine scored from 10 feet out.

Johnny Pearson widened the gap at 5:42 of the third period. Rookie Jerry Foley scored for the Rangers two minutes later but Doug Mohs fired into an empty net with five seconds remaining to hand the Rangers their fourth straight loss.

At Toronto, Moore's scoring spree was backed up by a sparkling performance from Gerry McNeil, Plante's replacement in the Montreal nets.

McNeil, called up from Montreal Royals of the Quebec League, stopped 29 shots against 26 for Toronto's Ed Chadwick.

Henri Pocket Rocket Richard scored Montreal's other goal. For Toronto, it was Sid Smith. Gary Aldcorn and Rudy Migay.

A full slate of action is on tap for tonight, with New York at Montreal, Toronto at Chicago and Detroit at Boston.

RUSSIANS 'COLOSSAL' WARNS FAMOUS COACH

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Famous coach Franz Stampel, writing in today's Melbourne Argus, warns Australia the Russian athletes are "colossal."

They'll give the U.S. and other countries a tremendous shock in the games, he said. They're set for a lot of medals unless they crack up badly under competition.

Stampel says there is no slacking and little fun in the Russians' training, but the jumpers and sprinters appear to be in top form.

Royals, Amerks in Riot; Haworth Rejoins Cougars

Victoria Cougars have decided to do their own policing of the Seattle Americans when the two teams collide in a Western Hockey League game, at Memorial Arena Friday night.

Coach Colin Kilburn is not contemplating calling in the RCMP to keep a lawful eye on the bumptious Americans, who precipitated a riot Wednesday night in Seattle while losing to the New Westminster Royals, 3-2.

In Brandon, the Regals downed the Calgary Stampede, 4-1, in the only other WHL game.

Leader of the uprising during the second period Wednesday was Seattle's George Senick, who has a reputation for being easily upset. After being sent away for 10 minutes for something he said, Senick started arguing with Royals' Jim Hay in the penalty box.

LAW CALLED

The law was called into action and a policeman sat between the combatants. But when first followed words, both the cop and a spectator were felled by wild swings. The policeman finally handcuffed Senick to restore law and order.

It won't be Senick that the Cougars will be worrying about Friday, however. Kilburn figures to have his charges "handcuffed" centreman Guyle Fielder and Eddie Dorohoy.

"Take a look at the scoring," says Colin. "Dorohoy and Fielder are almost always in on Seattle goals. If we stop them, their wingmen won't have any chances at all."

"But if the Americans want to play it rough like they did in Seattle, then we can play that way, too. We have some pretty good scrappers on our club and we won't be calling for any help."

REJOINS CLUB

Back in action again Friday with the Cougars after several weeks on the shelf with a Charley-horse will be centreman Gordie Haworth, who will pivot Bob Beckett and either Roy Partridge or Don Chupka. Rest of the lineup is intact.

In Seattle Wednesday, both their fists and their oratory failed to produce a victory for the Americans. After the Senick-Hay affray, Seattle's Fred Creighton and Royals' Aggie Kukulowicz slugged it out before the end of the period, while in the third Seattle's eloquent Eddie Dorohoy was given 10 minutes for "ad lipping."

By this time New Westminster had a 2-0 lead on goals by Gordie Fashaway and Arlo Goodwin in the first period. The second was understandably scoreless, and Dick Roberge made it 3-0 shortly after Dorohoy's banishment.

Conscience-stricken, Senick then turned his talents goalward and scored Seattle's first counter at 13:41. He was followed by Val Fonteyne at 14:07 to complete the scoring.

In Brandon, missing goalie Lucien Dechene, who was in Quebec following the death of his father, the Regals peaceably built up a 3-0 lead in the first five minutes of the game and then threw up a solid defensive wall in front of rookie goaltender Chuck Woodland.

Olympic Swim Stock Soars; Gals Rewrite Relay Record

Canada's hopes for a good harvest of swimming points at the Olympic Games in Melbourne, Australia, grew brighter Wednesday afternoon.

Taking part in an exhibition appearance at the HMCS Naden pool, Sara Barber, Gladys Priestley, Ginny Grant and Helen Stewart bettered the accepted world record in the women's 400-yard relay by eight-tenths of a second.

The four members of the Canadian Olympic team which is training in Victoria splashed the distance in three minutes 56 seconds. The world mark for a short pool, set in April by Purdue University students representing the Lafayette Swimming Club of Indiana, is 3:56.8.

However, coach Tommy Walker stressed that the time was unofficial and no attempt would be made to have it recognized as a new record.

Also cheering the veteran coach during the exhibition meet were performances by Bill Slater of Vancouver, and Hamilton's George Park.

Park came within a whisker of the Canadian record as he churned through 50 yards in 23.5 seconds. The 16-year-old Slater topped his best previous time in the 200 yards freestyle as he completed the distance in 2:01.6, one second over the Dominion mark.

Victorians will get a chance to see the eight-member swim squad in action Saturday night when the Olympians meet the YMCA swim club in an exhibition gala at the Crystal Garden.

During the meet, which starts at 7:30, coaching methods will be explained and championship swimming techniques will be demonstrated. Tickets will be available at the door.

Dickinson & Dunn will replace the originally-scheduled Drakes tonight at 7 against Farmers in the first game of the senior B men's basketball league doubleheader at Victoria High School.

Second game will pit Rose Fuel against Victoria College, starting at 8:30.

Curling on 14 of 25 passes and second-string quarterback Bobby Dawson completed two of three to give the Tiger-Cats 236 yards through the air.

Ledyard, who connected on his first 10 passes, was rushed more often in the second half and wound up with 16 completion for 228 yards.

The Tiger-Cats rolled up 222 yards and Riders 223 along the ground.

Walter Agrees To Play Jones

One of the most colorful figures in the world of golf was Walter Hagen. Now, with the aid of Margaret Beaton Heck he has written his amazing life story. Because of world-wide popularity and the fact that he played in the city, the Times takes pleasure in presenting the Hagen biography.

CHAPTER 17

During the fall and winter of 1925 golf writers continued to fan the tide of controversial argument about a match between Bobby Jones and me.

Naturally Jack Taylor and the promoters of the Whitefield Estates in Sarasota, where Bob played a lot, were eager for the match. Bobby's loyal fans were loud in their claim that I would be an easy take for him and my followers were just as vociferous in asserting I'd take Bobby like Grant took Richmond.

The press generally favored Bobby, and spent thousands of words explaining just why.

Personally I was not eager for the match for a number of reasons. Inasmuch as the papers said he was the better of the two of us, I'd have everything to gain and nothing to lose. But I was not keen on taking a beating from him.

Having won my second PGA title that year, my stock was selling pretty high. I couldn't see how a possible defeat at Jones's hands would increase its value.

Besides I was busy having a good time in Florida and I wasn't interested in interrupting the routine. What is more, Bobby, acknowledged the leading medalist in golf, was the Amateur champion of the United States and the public somehow had come to consider the amateurs as the Galahads of golf.

While I, rated as the leading match player, was a professional—the natural villain of the game. I was in Dallas in the fall of

Hagen

I Had Plenty of Time to Concentrate

"Me? Well, on my side there'll be you, me and my caddy. There'll be nobody and nothing to take my attention off my game. I can concentrate completely on what I'm doing. In a match of this kind I do better with my back against the wall. Do you get the idea?"

Harlow returned to Sarasota and made the final arrangements. Harlow was "lucky" enough to lose the coin toss and Bobby elected to play the first 36 holes of our challenge match on the Sarasota course on the date set, Feb. 28, 1926.

Bobby had won the United States Amateur Championship for two consecutive years, match competition. In the last six National Opens in which he and I had both played, he finished ahead of me five times and I finished ahead of him only once.

Doubtless, galleries who have followed golf for a considerable time agree that the mental phase of challenge matches or tournament play is a most important one. I don't mean so much the process of reasoning and thinking out what is best to do under any given set of circumstances or conditions in the course of a round. I mean the time the player begins to feel the pressure put on him by tournament strain . . . when he allows himself to worry of fret over things he has no business bothering his mind with at all.

But the most important quality in my mental approach to golf competition was the fact I could forget the last bad shot and concentrate on the next . . . or the next, if the second shot happened to be as wild as the first. And believe me, that has occurred many, many times in my game.

(From the book THE WALTER HAGEN STORY Copyright, 1954 by Walter Hagen. Published by Simon & Schuster New York.)

Tomorrow: Hagen tells how he defeated Bobby Jones and why he thinks he won.

LORDS, DUTCHIES WIN

Jacobs, Graham ORFU Semi Stars

London Lords, playing their first season of senior football, will meet Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, two-time title winners, for the Ontario Rugby Football Union senior championship.

Lords, in fourth place all year, fought their way into the final Wednesday night with a 35-19 upset over Toronto Beches in a sudden-death semi-final while Dutchmen, returning to mid-season form, buried Sarnia Golden Bears 29-7.

The 6,000 fans who watched London's triumph got full reward for their support through a season that saw Lords win only three games, as quarterback-coach Indian Jack Jacobs passed and kicked his team to victory over the second-place Beches.

JACOBS BUSY

Jacobs kicked four converts and two field goals, passed for one touchdown and set up another by the same route. Halves Bernie Bucholtz, Ed D'Armon and Dale Creighton scored London touchdowns and tackle Jack O'Toole got the fourth after intercepting a pass.

Speedy Bernie Custis got two for Beches. Ed Babcock got the other and Tommy Urowitz added a single on an attempted field goal that was wide.

At Kitchener it was all Billy

Games Officials Plea for Unity

MELBOURNE (AP) — The first big planeload of United States athletes arrived today as international Olympic officials sought to lead some of the withdrawn nations back into the Melbourne fold.

Some sparkle had gone out of the preparations for the massive international sports spectacle opening Nov. 22 by the withdrawals of Holland, Spain, Red China and Iraq. Efforts were started today by Wilfred Kent-Hughes, chairman of the organizing committee, and Otto Mayer, chancellor of the International Olympic Committee, to lure some countries—especially Holland—back into the games.

Kent-Hughes, who appealed to the nations of the world Wednesday to overcome international distrust and jealousies in the true spirit of the Olympics, called the Dutch national Olympic committee to reconsider its decision.

The Dutch flag is still flying in Olympic Village and a small group of six Netherlands here are still hoping they will be able to stay.

Questioned by newspaper men on the prospects of the U.S. team, Kenneth Wilson, president of the U.S. Olympic committee, said:

"This is the greatest Olympic team we have ever fielded. I am confident we can duplicate our performances at Helsinki in 1952 when we won 14 track and field medals."

Can't Please Anyone; Officials Quit

HAMILTON (CP)—Seymour Wilson, referee-in-chief of the Big Four Football Union, said Wednesday night two of his officials, under fire from Hamilton and Ottawa, have asked to be relieved of officiating duties in any further playoff games this season.

Wilson said he has accepted the requests from Jimmy Simpson of Hamilton and John Munro of Toronto, and that replacements will be named for the two-game, home-and-home final between Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Montreal Alouettes that rounds out Big Four play.

A tussle over the two officials arose Tuesday when Simpson was appointed an umpire and Munro judge of play for Wednesday's sudden-death semifinal here between the Tiger-Cats and Ottawa Rough Riders. Hamilton won 46-21.

Jim McCaffrey, Ottawa general manager and Big Four president, said "We think he (Simpson) is too biased in favor of Hamilton."

Jake Gaudaur, Ticat president, countered by protesting Munro's appointment, claiming Ticats believed he "is prejudiced against our team."

Students, Nuns Escape School Fire

ST. PASCAL, Que. (CP)—A stubborn fire resisted efforts of firemen from four communities to get it under control Wednesday night and threatened to destroy the four-story Normal school here.

The blaze lasted more than six hours. But the 200 girl boarders at the school and 50 nuns were evacuated safely when the fire started. Another 200 day students had left for home before it broke out. St. Pascal is 95 miles east of Quebec.

ACROSS THE PROVINCE

Police-Killer's Hanging Delayed Until Hearing of Pal's Appeal

(From CP Dispatches)
VANCOUVER—Execution of Joe Gordon, scheduled to be hanged Nov. 20 for the shooting of a Vancouver police constable, was postponed Wednesday by Mr. Justice A. M. Manson until Feb. 12.

Under sentence of death since last April, Gordon was convicted with James Carey of the slaying last Dec. 7 of Constable Gordon Sinclair while he investigated a prowler call.

Gordon's conviction was upheld by the Court of Appeal last month. Carey won a new trial. Mr. Justice Manson said "it would be unfair and unjust to permit the death sentence of Gordon to be carried out until Carey's case has been decided."

Gordon's counsel Larry Hill said he will apply in Ottawa next week for leave to appeal Gordon's case to the Supreme Court of Canada.

ONE DEAD, TWO WOUNDED
PRINCE RUPERT—One man was shot to death and two persons wounded in what RCMP described as an apparent wound-suicide incident at Telegraph Creek.

RCMP said the shooting occurred Sunday but word was only received here Wednesday by radio.

The police message identified the dead man as Lester Frank of Telegraph Creek.

Police said he is believed to have committed suicide after shooting Landry Frank, presumably a relative, and a woman, Kitty Larese.

ARMED ROBBERY
WILLIAMS LAKE—An armed bandit robbed Mackenzie's Ltd. department store here of $1,200 cash and $3,000 in cheques.

Two employees working after closing hours noticed the man's shadow from another part of the building. When one investigated, the bandit, who was wearing a black mask, forced him at the point of a .22 revolver to open the safe.

52ND GAS DEATH

VANCOUVER—Henry Vincent Smith, 79, became the city's 52nd domestic gas victim Wednesday night when he died from the effects of gas poisoning in his East End lodging.

TWO ACQUITTED

QUESNEL—Alexander Toma and Frederick Alexander Bennie were acquitted of a joint manslaughter charge at the fall assizes of the B.C. Supreme Court here Wednesday.

The accused were charged following the death of Elmer A. Cook of Williams Lake during a fight last July 22.

WILL "LOWER THE BOOM"
VANCOUVER—Young car thieves were warned Wednesday by Police Magistrate Oscar Orr that he is going to "lower the boom" on such offenders in the future.

Prosecutor told the magistrate at the hearing of two youths that 301 automobiles had been stolen in Vancouver in October. "I am amazed with these figures," Magistrate Orr said. "I think today will be a deadline. From now on I will lower the boom on any new cases of car theft."

LOGGER KILLED

VANCOUVER—One logger was killed and another was seriously injured Wednesday in an accident at a Jervis, Inlet, logging camp on the Sechart Peninsula. The dead man's name was withheld.

DRUGGISTS ASHAMED
VANCOUVER—Druggists are ashamed of the "disgracefully immoral" books they sell and would co-operate to stamp out their sale, says Father James P. Leonard, director of a campaign against obscene literature in Vancouver.

"I have pointed out these sex, crime and horror books to druggists and been told they don't really want to sell them. They would stop selling them if all drug and grocery stores stopped. And it is up to parents to get them to stop."

DEATH-BED WILL UPHOLD

VANCOUVER—The death-bed will of Joseph Alphonse McKercher, giving a $582,807 estate to his bride of 10 days, was proved in solemn form Wednesday.

The Fraser Valley lumberman died in New Westminster in 1954 and was married in hospital to an old friend, the former Mrs. Marion Woods. The will was signed half an hour after the bedside wedding.

Mr. Justice A. E. Lord said he was satisfied that McKercher was of sound mind when he married Mrs. Woods and when he put his mark to the will. McKercher could not sign his name because he had injured his right arm, the judge added.

Paganinis 'Live' Show Perfection

By AUDREY SLD. JOHNSON
Times Music Critic

Listening to the Paganini Quartet in its Art Gallery sponsored concert Wednesday night at Victoria High School, one was more than ever impressed with the fact this intimate and exquisite music must be heard "live" to enjoy its full savor.

Any recording or televised performance can give only an approximation of the essential character. The personalities and gifts of the musicians themselves become so involved and absorbed in the music that only their physical presence can bring complete satisfaction.

The core of their perfection is their immense and equal power of concentration and unanimity of viewpoint. As a result of this, and their absolute technical freedom, they escape that spread-over-all patina of slickness noticeable in some other distinguished ensembles.

UNIQUE SPIRIT

Each composition performed stands out as a separate and individualistic creation with its own unique spirit and aura.

A switch was made from the programmed Mozart E flat major Quartet to the D major as a concert opener, first violinist Temianka explaining that the "tonality agreed better with Benjamin Britten's work"—the second item.

The Mozart was crystalline in quality and there was a particularly lovely cello solo in the final movement, with an accompaniment of high-pitched, lively violin conversation.

Britten's first of two quartets is a work one would wish to hear as often as possible because it is arresting, vital and fanciful, but so challenging in its ideas that it cannot be fully comprehended at one hearing.

ALMOST ERIE

As performed by the Paganinis, it had a wonderful, almost erie atmosphere with a sustained effect in the opening that was like the continuous distant chiming of innumerable tiny bells.

Then we came to the Beethoven C major. And what Beethoven this was. The giant in a moment of delighting in the miniature; a lovely limpid andante movement, a sparkling finale like a shower of diamond dust.

This is a virtuoso ensemble indeed, but the adjective is used in its finest and fullest sense.

Their virtuosity lies not only in a wizard-like display of technical brilliance, but in their ability to invoke an endless variety of moods and to produce subtle changes in tonal texture, as distinct from dynamics.

Labor Group Protests Anti-Socred Remarks

John Aubry Defends Right Of Individual to Express Opinion

Strong protest regretting "unauthorized statements" of officers of Victoria Labor Council following the September provincial election has been voiced by an affiliated local union.

United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers' International Union local 277 objected to statements regretting the return of the Social Credit government.

The union's objection was read at a VLC meeting Wednesday night and after debate was received and filed according to an earlier executive recommendation.

A motion of non-concurrence with the executive recommendation was defeated.

President John MacKenzie said he would have ruled the remark out of order if it had come directly to the floor of the meeting without executive action. He reasoned council voted unanimously prior to the election on a motion recommending affiliated membership to do all in its power to defeat Social Credit.

Mr. Chisholm said that the federal government should investigate Canada's position in relation to European trade as well as the possibility of opening trade with the Chinese mainland.

The Conservatives passed resolutions urging a European free trade area and widening of British preferential rates.

Another resolution called for the introduction of humane killing methods in Canadian slaughter houses.

John Dielenbaker was endorsed in the national leadership contest.

Chosen as delegates to the national Conservative convention were Mrs. G. R. Pearkes, Hugh Henderson and C. H. Rennie.

Alternate delegates are George McGregor, Mrs. Violet Eddy and A. R. Walker.

People Back U.K. on Suez, Says Pearkes

Major-General G. R. Pearkes, V.C. MP, has received numerous letters endorsing his support of Britain and France on their "police action" in the Suez Canal crisis.

"It is most encouraging to find that so many people in Greater Victoria feel as I do," Gen. Pearkes told the Times today.

"I have had a great many letters from persons in Victoria, Saanich and Esquimalt, and some of them are strongly worded letters. They call for all-out support of our allies in times of crisis."

General Pearkes is Conservative MP for Esquimalt-Saanich.

In a speech to the Victoria Federal Conservative Association last week, General Pearkes attacked Canada's federal government for not taking a firm stand in support of Britain and France.

He also criticized the Ottawa government for permitting Canadian arms to be sold to Israel and Egypt earlier this year.

"The letters I have received show that there is plenty of support for my views—in this part of the world at least," General Pearkes said.

Three Miners Killed

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP)—Three miners were killed and a fourth injured critically Wednesday in a gas explosion 600 feet below the surface in the Truesdale Colliery here. The men were installing steel shafts for a water pump when the explosion occurred. Investigators are attempting to determine its cause.

SINGING SEVERAL SOLOS

as well as appearing in ensembles with other favorite Victoria singers, is soprano Ruth Champion, in the musical extravaganza, "All Aboard," to be staged by Victoria Gilbert and Sullivan Operatic Society at Oak Bay Junior High, Nov. 14, 15, 16 and 17.

Canada Aids Refugees

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada is to contribute $100,000 towards immediate requirements of Hungarian refugees fleeing Soviet retaliation in their homeland.

Prime Minister St. Laurent announced Wednesday night that the government has decided to make the special contribution to the United Nations Refugee Fund.

The government will also make a contribution of $100,000 to the Canadian Red Cross to assist it in providing basic relief supplies and services to refugees crossing by thousands into Austria since the Russians moved in to crush the Hungarian freedom fighters.

The contribution to the UN Refugee Fund, the prime minister's announcement said, will be in addition to the $200,000 Canada will be giving the fund in 1957 for assisting refugees generally.

Second Coming of Christ in December '57, Says British-Israelist

By DINAH KERR

Coming of Jesus Christ in December of 1957 followed by 1,000 years of peace on earth was predicted here today by R. E. Wemp, of Toronto, secretary-general of the British-Israel World Federation in Canada.

According to indications in the Bible, Christ will come in the flesh and will be received "wonderfully," he said.

But before His coming—probably Dec. 12—there will be one last great war between Russia and the Western nations.

Prophecy in the Bible "the history—past, present and future—of the human race" points to a Russian invasion of the Middle East and North Africa, Wemp claimed.

"We will lose battle after battle until we have no recourse and then as a nation we will turn to God."

"Of course we won't do this until we have to," he said.

"We'd rather take the word of Nasser, Khrushchev and Tito. We'll think we're safe until suddenly the attack comes."

Christ will not descend to earth until the West has suffered "perhaps the worst licking we've ever had," he said. "It will compel us to get down on our knees in prayer and we will ask the King to come back."

Western nations cannot depend on the United Nations for help, Wemp said.

"The United Nations organization is absolutely Godless. Never once has it offered up a word of prayer. It is part of the devil's plot to beat God to the draw in establishing world government."

"Our governments are receiving advice from Satan's men," he charged. "They're deceived as Jesus said even the very elect themselves would be deceived."

According to British-Israelist theory, Anglo-Celtic-Saxon races are God's chosen people—not the Jews.

"We are the only people on this earth who answer to the description the Bible gives of the Israel people," Wemp explained.

"We are doing and being everything the Bible said the Israelites would do and be."

"The Israel people were to have their headquarters in the isles of the sea, northwest of Palestine and at the 'utmost most part of the earth'."

"This could only be the British Isles," he said.

"The Bible says the Israel people would 'colonize the waste plains of the earth and form the fifth world empire."

"The British Commonwealth answers all these qualifications—it is the fifth world empire, preceded by the empires of Babylon, Medo-Persia, Greece and Rome."

In addition, the Israel people were always to have direct descendants of King David on the throne, Wemp said. "It has been proved that Queen Elizabeth II is a descendant of David."

Right now everything is going exactly as the Bible predicts, he said.

"As I see it in the Scriptures, Britain had to get out of the Middle East, North Africa and the Mediterranean for a short time. This is indicated in the 11th and 12th chapters of Daniel.

"Our power was to be scattered until the enemy could gather for a final onslaught in an attempt to conquer the world."

"Russia is determined upon that conquest in supporting Nasser and getting the Arabs to stand behind Nasser and filling the Arabs with the idea that the Western powers were supporting the Jews against the Arabs."

Now Wemp is looking for a temporary compromise unless Russia jumps the gun and attacks the West immediately.

Here is how the British-Israelists arrived at the exact date of Christ's coming:

The Bible states Jerusalem shall be trodden down for 2,520 years—an "age of punishment" set because the Israel people turned against God in 604 B.C.

This period ended Dec. 12, 1917, when General Allenby set Jerusalem free, Wemp says.

Christ is expected to arrive on earth one generation (40 years) after the freeing of Jerusalem—which will be Dec. 12, 1957.

Wemp spoke at a public meeting sponsored by the Victoria branch of the British-Israel World Federation Wednesday night.

BETWEEN TIMES

MONTE ROBERTS

There is a man in Winnipeg who has been suffering unduly due to a noisy moth.

It appears this moth made great crunching noises while it was eating, and the poor man had great difficulty getting to sleep.

In fact, matters got so bad the man had to evict the moth from his apartment, much as he hated to interfere with the balance of nature.

The reason I know all this is that naturally, the man in question wrote to the paper about it.

People—bless them—always write to the paper about anything troubling them, from noisy moths to potatoes that look like ducks and ducks that look like potatoes.

In this case, the man wrote to Graham Smith of the Winnipeg Tribune, and Graham obligingly did a bit of research. He asked the curator of the Manitoba Museum, and the curator stated the moth couldn't have been making noises while eating, because moths possess no mandibles. No mandibles, no noise, said the curator, flatly.

Do you think this helped the man with the noisy moth? It did not. It only added to his troubles.

Curator or no curator, he was sure he had heard this noisy moth making crunching noises.

So he did a little research on his own hook, and in an Orkney Isles paper, found reference to a moth there which makes squeaking noises, like a mouse, when alarmed.

So our man with the noisy moth again wrote Graham, and said perhaps this noisy moth hadn't been making crunching noises after all, perhaps they were squeaking noises.

Graham called on the museum curator once again, and the curator said yes, he'd heard of a moth which was supposed to make squeaking noises, but blessed if he knew how, and HE had never heard one.

And that is where the matter stands. I am all agog to learn the next development, and I do hope Graham Smith will press on for further information.

I am anxiously awaiting word of a mouse that makes noises like a moth.

Can you oblige, Mr. Smith?

William S. Quinn was arrested by RCMP in Nanaimo Wednesday and returned to Victoria by city police, who held a warrant for him.

Asked by Magistrate H. C. Hall how he wished to plead, Quinn first said, "I imagine guilty," then, "guilty with reservations."

Later Quinn said he had intended to make restitution, "but never got around to it."

Gillies was convicted by Magistrate H. C. Hall after claiming he had not received a registered letter from the income tax department addressed to him at 721 View Street, demanding the return.

Happy Yule Sure For Korean Child

At least one little girl in Korea is going to be mighty happy this Christmas.

She'll wake up to find a huge Christmas stocking under her tree, stuffed with a warm sweater, two pairs of gloves, a hat, skipping rope, taffie, crayons and a crayon-book.

Most of these presents have been purchased by the Mt. View High School Y-teens for their adopted "sister" in Pusan, Korea—young Kim Ai Ja, 13.

The Y-teens adopted Kim last March through the B.C. branch of the "Save the Children Fund."

"They have been selling doughnuts to their schoolmates every week, along with pies, cheer mops, and soup, in order to raise $50 to pay for Kim's clothing, education and food this year.

Kim lives with her mother and two brothers in a widow's home because her father was killed six years ago in the Korean war.

She has written a letter to the Mt. View Y-teens which was translated by a member of the Save the Children Fund, a branch of the United Nations Services Committee.

CHRISTIAN WAY

Here are excerpts:

"I think that everything in your civilized England must be the Christian way of life. I don't know the surroundings under which you age studying but you are happier than I. My father was carried off by the Communists six years ago. I thank God that I can study continuously. My mother's work as a machinist keeps our family from being hungry but sometimes I go to school without any food. I have suffered much from poverty."

In addition to money for food and clothing, the Mt. View Y-teens have sent Canadian postcards, coins and a little of the history of Canada to Kim.

Directing "Operation Christmas Stocking" at Mt. View High is Y-teen president Margaret Nelson, 17, who won the PTA prize in June for the highest average in Grade 11.

Quick Trial Requested In Pinball Case

Not Guilty Plea On Gaming Charge

Seizure of a number of pinball machines last week in the Jimmie Little store, 2017 Quadra, was followed up in city police court today.

A plea of not guilty was entered by Donald McAlpine to a charge of keeping a common gaming house. He was remanded to Nov. 15 for trial.

Counsel Donald Anderson asked that the case be dealt with as soon as possible.

"This matter (of pinball machines) is now before city council and the case should be disposed of quickly," he said.

Magistrate H. C. Hall said, however, the court could not take cognizance of what was going on outside.

MORE DETAILS

Mr. Anderson also asked the prosecutor for more particulars in the charge as to how the offence was committed.

"This is either an attempt to affirm a new interpretation of the code or confirm a recent interpretation," he said.

Mr. Bigelow said the prosecution would attempt to prove the store was in possession of slot machines and also the machines were played.

The charge of keeping a common gaming house is laid under the Criminal Code.

3-Weeks' Holiday For HBC Workers

Three weeks' annual vacation with pay for employees with 10 years' service was announced today by C. N. Chubb, manager of Hudson's Bay Co. store.

Formerly employees required 15 years' service for three weeks' annual holiday with pay.

1,300 B.C. Delegates For Vancouver Meeting

Social Credit's platform in the next federal election, expected in June, will be determined by some 1,300 delegates assembling in Vancouver today for the annual convention of the B.C. Social Credit League.

The delegates represent 52 Social Credit constituency associations throughout the province. Victoria's 25-man delegation will be led by John D. Johnson, newly-elected president of the Victoria Constituency Association.

"It will be the biggest convention we have had since the league was formed," Mr. Johnson said.

"We shall hammer out our policy in the next federal election and a number of resolutions on that policy will be considered."

"We plan to contest all B.C. seats in the Ottawa House."

Mr. Low also will speak at a banquet in the Hotel Vancouver Friday evening.

Premier Bennett is addressing a meeting of the provincial women's organization in the Georgia Auditorium today and will be heard at the full league conference, which opens Friday morning and continues until Saturday afternoon.

Noel Murphy, president of the B.C. League, will be chairman at the convention sessions.

SCULPTORS TO COMPETE FOR B.C. BIRTHDAY PRIZE

The British Columbia Centennial Committee in an effort to stimulate sculpting is offering a $20,000 prize for a piece executed by a B.C. resident, it was learned today.

According to present plans, it would be placed in front of the Legislative Buildings.

While there has been no official statement from the committee, the award is known to be under study for the centennial year, 1958.

Airport Service Station May End Free Parking Area

The Federal Department of Transport has approved the leasing of the present "free parking" area at Patricia Bay airport for service station use, it was learned today.

The department's decision may bring to an end free parking for Victorians who leave their cars at the airport for short business trips to Vancouver.

A department of transport official said a service station will be constructed on the parking site and rates charged for day and overnight parking.

He added that he had not yet received details of the plan, but believed the department did not intend to lease the entire parking area. This would mean there would still be a small free parking area if it is still retained as such, he said.

The Victoria Chamber of Commerce is concerned about the leasing of the parking area.

Hector Crombie, secretary, said the Chamber has written to Ottawa for information on the parking-service station deal.

Meanwhile, some businessmen plan to protest against a fixed rate parking area at the airport. The extra parking expenses, they feel, will indirectly raise the cost of travel for business people who make frequent day trips to Vancouver.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—I am given to understand that foreshore rights are only leased by the government. Have they ever been sold outright to owners of waterfront property?

—A.W.

A.—Yes, foreshore rights are nowadays leased, but never sold. There are some cases on Vancouver Island in which they were sold and now are owned by the property owners. They date back to Hudson's Bay Company days. When B.C. entered Confederation these HBC sales were honored, hence the existence of these notable exceptions.

Q.—What is the population of Port Said, on which world attention has been centred?

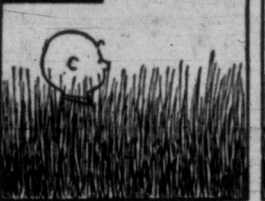

—D.B.

A.—As recorded in the World Almanac, 1956, the most recent census gave the population as 178,432. It dates from 1859. This is not one of the ancient cities of that part of the world.

Barrick-Taylor Wedding
In St. Martin's Church

The jacket was trimmed with white taffeta ribbon, pleated at the waist and extending to a large bow at back. She wore a corsage of rapture roses and carried a white prayer book. Her accessories were a tiny blue satin hat, blue shoes and gloves. The groom's gift, a matching set of Alaska black diamond earrings and necklace completed her ensemble.

Bridesmaid, Miss Sheila McKinnon, wore a ballerina length gown of old rose lace with gored skirt, three-quarter length sleeves and squared neckline. She wore navy accessories and a corsage of rapture roses.

Best man for his brother, and Garth Taylor, brother of the bride, and Fred Sparks were ushers. During signing of the register, William Patterson sang a solo.

On Etiquette

About unaccepted invitations: My husband says I am over-sensitive. Tell me what you think. I have invited a certain couple to dinner on three occasions. Each time they have refused with some unconvincing excuse. They have not invited us to their home. I say we should let them alone until they give some sign that they wish to carry on the friendship. My husband says that is childish and that I should go ahead and invite them again. I don't want them to think we are chasing after them.

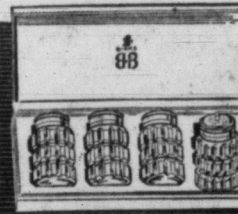

Louise Davis answers: Three times is definitely enough especially when you sensed unconvincing excuses on the other occasions. Leave them alone and let them make the next move if they want to, and if not why embarrass yourself with more overtures? If some time in the future you are giving an "at home" party, which doesn't usually require an acceptance or regret, you could include this couple on your invitation list and see what happens. At least you won't have to listen to a flimsy excuse.

Louise Davis then again. I don't want them to think we are chasing after them.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Facts for Happy Life

Life is difficult for most folks. Even those who seem so blessed and happy may have heartaches of which we know nothing. Living is full of complexities, of constant readjustments, of lights and shadows, and sooner or later the average individual gets his share of the shadows. Adaptability is the saving grace! Once we are faced with an accomplished, unhappy fact or an unchangeable situation, we must adjust to it if we are to survive as happy and successful persons. We must often replace one dream or one plan with another even though the first may have been nearer to our heart's desire.

Yet so many persons are unadaptable even in matters which are trivial when compared to real trouble. They stew because they cannot live where they wish, because they cannot buy that new hat, because Mrs. So-and-So did not treat them just as they thought she should, because they are not appreciated by their family.

Many such persons live in a perpetual state of irritation because of their necessarily close contact, due to family or business affiliations, with someone who annoys them. Goodness knows, human nature is not perfect and relatives belong to the human race. Some of them can be hell on wheels. However, even though these situations can be most trying, if you cannot do anything about it you must adjust or injure your health and your personality and your happiness.

I think it helps to adapt if we look for the reason for another's cussedness. Almost always it stems from poor health or emotional immaturity or insecurity, from hurt or fear of some sort. I suppose there is such a thing as pure selfishness. When you come in close touch with that, just don't let it get you down!

The tenderhearted, perceptive person has a hard time weaving her way between being imposed upon and giving of her understanding and warmth. Of course, nothing is so helpful as a sense of humor.

Many of the difficult family problems are concerned with the older members of the family. If you could just realize that many of their eccentricities come from hardening of the arteries of the brain, you would be more tolerant. That can happen to any one of us, and will, if we live long enough.

Life is surging through our hearts and minds and bodies every single day. Let us try to adapt to the changing circumstances it brings us.

If you would like my leaflet No. 50, "Individual Happiness," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Southern California Honeymoon
Then Couple to Live in Nanaimo

Departure Bay, Nanaimo, will be the home of Earle Edward Patterson, and his bride, the former Miss Marion Dorothy Coleman, principals in a double ring ceremony at Queen's Avenue United Church, New Westminster, on Nov. 3. Rev. W. E. Fullerton officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. C. Percy Rumble, Ladysmith, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Patterson of Chemainus.

Given in marriage by her stepfather, C. Percy Rumble, the bride wore a period gown of white mouseline de soie and Alencon lace. It was made with fitted bodice, edged at the yoke line with lace flowers. The fully crinolined skirt, applied with lace, extended to a chapel-length train.

The bride's headdress of matching lace held a fingertip veil of French illusion net. A cluster of white orchids and lily of the valley formed her bouquet.

Autumn shades of brown, green, gold and red in the attendants' dresses were an attractive contrast for the bride's gown. The crinolined dresses were waist-length and were trimmed with ties falling to hemline.

Mrs. J. Makarenko, Burquitlam, was matron of honor; Mrs. P. Ferguson and Mrs. K. H. Rumble of New Westminster, bride's matrons, and Miss Marilyn Clarke, Ladysmith, bridesmaid.

Mrs. Ben Jones Is in Town... Shooting City From All Angles

By TERRY FRENCH

Have you seen, a jaunty woman with gas mask bag slung over her shoulder stalking ducks in Beacon Hill Park or eyeing totems in Thunderbird Park?

No, she's not a fugitive first aid worker — she's Mrs. Ben Jones, photographer, journalist and world traveler. The gas mask bag of sturdy canvas is a leftover from the war. It's her own special camera case that has traveled with her to nearly every part of the globe. "It's weatherproof and just the right size, so why not!"

Mrs. Jones, presently on tour of Canada, is an "old hand" at the business of taking pictures, or "shots." "I can't remember," says the keen camerawoman, "when I haven't had a camera."

It was 10 years ago that she started putting a well-established hobby to commercial use. She found that illustrating stories and articles she had written offered better opportunities. Sale of "pix" in conjunction with writings made her work more marketable and more interesting for her, too. She now does straight picture stories, with captions carrying the story.

Besides the actual photography, the mechanisms and desirable points of different makes of cameras is a constant interest to Mrs. Jones. When Times photographer, Bill Halkett, and Mrs. Jones started comparing notes on cameras and going over attributes of suitable cameras for each other's work, I was afraid my interview with Mrs. Jones was to be forgotten. Here were the two of them, loaded down with cameras, attachments and cases, standing in the middle of the Empress Hotel lobby comparing weights of their cameras and generally causing a slight detour around the conglomeration of light meters, shutter covers, tripods and such.

Originally from Perth, Australia, Mrs. Jones could call any number of places "home." Her husband, Thomas Ben Jones, is with the British Colonial Service, currently serving in British Somaliland. He is head of the hydrological and irrigation department for that country's government. Their daughter, Fiona, lives in London. She models and writes, too.

Mrs. Jones... a photograph of a photographer photographing...

Mrs. Jones has done picture stories and series on "people and places," flora and fauna in many parts of the world. Subjects range from mountains and scenes to ostriches, and now, ducks. She has covered, picture-wise, Somaliland, and before this latest tour, 10,000 miles in Africa collecting shots for magazines and newspapers.

How did she get to Canada? Through the fact that she saw a Canadian Pacific Railway exhibit in England arranged to advertise this country. "It made me think Canada was a heaven on earth. I simply had to see it!"

During one afternoon this week she literally "stalked" ducks in Beacon Hill Park in an attempt at pictures to complete a "Ducks Unlimited" series, begun in Winnipeg. The Victoria series will take in the totems. En route across Canada, a Toronto cosmopolitan set of pictures was shot and in Calgary, cattle, Winnipeg also yielded wheat shots.

After leaving Victoria, she will re-cross Canada, "shooting" all the way, and will then sail for England. Weather permitting, she will work on illustrations for a book, and then head towards Northeast Africa, Ethiopia and Italian Somalia on projects.

Not more than five feet tall, Mrs. Ben Jones has a store of energy and wealth of profitable picture ideas that would put many a person, three times the size, to shame.

Within a few months, she'll no doubt be in some interesting, and far-flung part of the world with one of her three cameras — a Rollei, Leica or Pallard Bloex — in the old gas mask bag over her shoulder, ready for action.

READY FOR ADOPTION: keep him away from chickens, though. Orville is a black Labrador, very friendly, one year old, male. Don't hold his name against him; he didn't pick it. One of the handsomest small dogs to visit here in a long time is Smitty, one-year-old black cocker. Very loving and lovable disposition. Black and white male, mostly springer spaniel, nicely marked in black and white. Name's Butch. In his prime at two years old. In search of home with kids to play with is Skip, a golden retriever, only six months—just growing out of puppyhood. Like so many daddies, Ladie, a golden retriever, would prefer a home with kids. At 10 months, he's hardly more than a kid himself. Wise to Peppy is the name for this Labrador cross, male, but at two years he's rather more the dignified type. Likes people—all of them. Spayed female 99 per cent collie, a real beauty with aristocratic nose to bushy tail. Five years old, good with kids, an alert watchdog. Cindy is a cheerful, friendly gal of collie and Labrador parentage, nine months old, good to adapt to new home. Short-haired terrier type, male, three years old. Name's Fatsy, but he isn't really. Friendly, playful, easily adaptable. Mostly border collie, small and compact. Blackie is 14 months, friendly, well-trained.

Windsor Park "B" Pack. Bob Alton and Michael Bell were invested as "Second Star" cubs by Akela Phyllis Sheffield at the regular meeting on Tuesday evening; parents of the boys attended.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Marilou Frets, aged 10, of Mt. Vernon, Wash., for her question:

How Did the Story of Paul Bunyan Originate?

Some days seem full of bothersome little chores. Will this tiresome job of dish-washing ever end? Do I have to do this annoying hair combing every day of my life? Is there an end to this page of lousy writing? Everyone feels like this once in a while. Then is the time for a tall tale. Day after day the loggersmen match their strength against the giant forest trees. Surely that tough job will never end! So at night they gather around the camp fire and someone tells a tall tale. Logging is tough work for the strongest of men. But not for Paul Bunyan.

That fellow could do this work in a wink—no trouble at all. As the tall tale unfolds, the imagination races along with it. The tired men laugh and dream of the giant logger who could do all this work in a jiffy—all fun and no backache. What would Paul do about your dish-washing chore? You can make up the answer to that one easily enough. He would dump all the dirty dishes in America into the Great Lakes of course. Hair combing never bothered Paul, for he used a young pine tree to do the job. His man Johnny Inkslinger took care of the writing chores and Johnny's fountain pen needed a bucket brigade of thirty men to fill it.

There are plenty of tall tales in the world. But the tales of Paul Bunyan are the best of them all. For they never try to fool anybody. They just make you feel good by pretending. Babe, the Blue Ox, is 42 ax handles high and Paul can stride over 24 townships. There is no set measure for ax handles or townships. Nor are there set measures for Paul and his merry crew. They are as big and as grand as you need to make them—depending upon how weary and bored you are. One thing is sure. Those big, grand tales will cheer you up and make you feel better.

So nobody believes that Paul Bunyan dug the Mississippi River and piled up the Rockies and the Alleghannies. He did not even dig your beautiful Puget Sound. But its nice to pretend and imagine the fun the big fellow had doing his monster chores. It makes our little chores seem so small that they do not bother us at all.

Everybody, of course, gets to wondering how the wonderful tales began. They were started, it seems, by a real fellow named Paul Bunyan. He was a Canadian of Quebec or northern Ontario. In 1837, the real Paul Bunyan gave a good account of himself in a rebellion. When the fuss was over he started a logging camp and the tall tales began. His men repeated Paul's comforting yarns and made Paul himself the hero of them. The wonderful tales were repeated and spread. They were told in Maine, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and all the way to Puget Sound. Wherever there was logging, the loggersmen told the tales of the giant hero. There were always those to add a bit, improve the story and fit it into a new home. Paul is said to have ruled this continent from The Winter of the Blue Snow to the Spring that the Rain Came up from China.

Now, if you can find that period in a history book, then you can believe every one of the tales of giant Paul Bunyan. Otherwise, just believe that Paul was just an ordinary loggerman with a great gift for cheering his weary men with merry tales. Andy sends a Hammond Ambassador World Atlas to Holly Richter, aged 12, of St. Catharines, Ont., for her question: Where was the first electric light used?

In the 18th century, electricity was regarded as a fascinating toy. People suspected its possibilities, but the tremendous power had not yet been harnessed and put to work. Electricity was being studied. Knowledge grew as people added and gathered it bit by bit. A few small electrical inventions were made and the electric battery was improved. One of the earliest of the inventions was an electric light. The very first one was made by Sir Humphrey Davy. Sir Humphrey was a wealthy stock holder in England. But he enjoyed time spent in chemistry and science more than time spent with his banking. He made the very first electric light in the year 1801. This electric light was an arc light. Instead of a filament as in the modern light bulb, this light used two solid carbon rods. The switch closed or opened them. When closed, the cadet gave off an arc of bright, white light—but Sir Henry's electric light was not very practical for everyday use. A better one, the Brush Lamp, was developed around 1878 and used in factories. A filament-type lamp came along two years later, developed by Thomas Alva Edison of America. By 1910, the metal tungsten had proved itself as a reliable filament for the electric light bulb and all we had to do was, put in the wires and turn on the current to light homes, cities and factories with electricity.

BB (Worthwhile) B (For Rainy Days) C (To put in time)

FROM HERE ON IN "The Solid Gold Cadillac" runs riot as, in despair, the board hires Miss Holliday under the phony title of "Director of Small Shareholders." It grows worse as she takes her duties seriously and contacts all the shareholders. In desperation they send her to Washington to see if she can't wrangle defence orders from Douglas.

Thanks to Abe Burrows' rewrite of the play by George S. Kaufman and Howard Teichman, there are laughs in almost every line of dialogue which Holliday and Douglas milk for the last drop. What Miss Holliday has that most comedienne haven't got is an underlying tenderness and pathos even in the most hilarious scenes. And this, of course, is true artistry.

WHO HASN'T attended at some time or another a board meeting at a club or business and been appalled (or wryly amused) by the speed at which important business is pushed through before a voice of protest can be heard, as cut and dried as a prune.

This is the scene as a large New York holding company romps through its annual meeting. Then chaos breaks out as a small shareholder (Miss Holliday) stands up and questions the high salaries of the chairman of the board and other board members. The only one who is faintly amused is Paul Douglas who has just resigned the presidency of the firm and is on his way to Washington as a dollar-a-year man. The rest, such scallywags as Fred Clark, John Williams, Ralph Dunke and Ray Collins, are most unamused. They see potential trouble in the not-so-dumb blonde.

Herb Score Gets Sophomore Award

NEW YORK (AP) — Herb Score, Cleveland's fastballing lefthander, had even a better season in 1956 than he had in 1955 when he was named American League rookie-of-the-year.

For his 1956 performance, Score today was voted the sophomore-of-the-year in the annual Associated Press poll. Herb and Frank Lary of Detroit received the bulk of the votes cast by members of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Score was named on 103 ballots, Lary on 63 and Johnny Kucks of New York Yankees on 32.

ATTENTION: CAT OWNERS

because of this news millions of cats will be healthier, happier!

Puss'n Boots now contains extra Vitamin B₁ (thiamin)

Now — see what extra Vitamin B₁ does for your cat —

Puss 'n Boots Cat Food, made from fresh-caught whole fish (not from scraps or by-products), contains nature's own ideal balance of life-giving nutrients. The chart shows how the proteins, the vitamins, the minerals and other vital elements are retained in nature's balance. And for all-round nutrition, seven scientifically selected cereals are added.

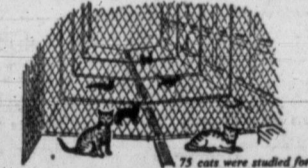

If you have been feeding Puss 'n Boots, you know how your cat thrives on it. Now, with extra Vitamin B₁, you'll see an additional beneficial effect, especially if your cat is one of those requiring vitamin supplementation.

Pick up a week's supply of new Puss 'n Boots, with extra Vitamin B₁, and see what it does for your cat! You'll enjoy an altogether more lovable pet... more playful, more beautiful. Food stores and pet shops everywhere have Puss 'n Boots, in two handy sizes.

A great scientific advance in pet nutrition... A serious problem solved for your cat.

You know from health lessons learned in your school days how important Vitamin B₁ is to your own well-being. But did you know that it's just as important for your cat to have an adequate daily supply of this essential "nerve vitamin"?

Because it is so important, Puss 'n Boots Cat Food now contains an extra supply of Vitamin B₁, in every can... purposely added in scientifically measured quantities, as the result of Puss 'n Boots' continuing study of cat nutrition.

What we learned about Your Cat

More than five years ago we established a colony of 75 cats in model quarters. We fed them fresh food, canned food, every kind of food you are ever likely to feed your cat. Our veterinarian and nutritional specialists patiently observed the cats and their kittens, day after day, year after year, and kept detailed records of their diets and their physical condition.

From this study one crystal-clear conclusion emerged: A most important problem in feeding your cat is to make sure that it gets the adequate daily supply of Vitamin B₁, which it needs.

Does your Cat get enough Vitamin B₁ Now?

Some cats need a larger supply of Vitamin B₁ than others. Such cats (like many humans) need supplementary B₁. Unless they receive it they will lose appetite, weight and energy. They will be irritable instead of happily playful, dull looking instead of sleekly beautiful. So Puss 'n Boots, already rich in vitamins and minerals, now contains added Vitamin B₁ for two reasons:

1. To provide the supplementary Vitamin B₁ that some cats need.
2. To provide "Vitamin B₁ insurance" as a margin of safety for all cats.

A Technical Triumph

It wasn't easy to add Vitamin B₁ to Puss 'n Boots and keep it stable. Vitamin B₁ is sensitive to heat. It may be lost in cooking. And Puss 'n Boots is cooked in the can, to make sure it reaches you an absolutely pure, ready-to-eat cat food. But after much technical research and many experiments, we solved the problem. The vitamin is kept stable throughout the cooking.

Today, when you open a can of Puss 'n Boots you can be sure the added Vitamin B₁ is there, with all the health-giving benefits that mean so much to your cat's welfare.

PUSS'n BOOTS

MADE FROM FRESH WHOLE FISH!

VITAMIN B₁ (Thiamin)

This vitamin is essential for a cat's health and well-being. Regular feeding of Puss 'n Boots assures an adequate daily supply.

FILLET OR FISH: rich in important growth-promoting proteins. Usually reserved for human consumption, but retained in Puss 'n Boots.

BONE STRUCTURE: for calcium and phosphorus for sturdy frame. Made crumbly and digestible and retained in Puss 'n Boots.

LIVER AND GLANDS: for minerals, vitamins A, B, D. Vital for well-being. Often extracted for medicinal use. Retained in Puss 'n Boots.

St. Laurent Letters to Eden Called 'Realistic But Not Rude'

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

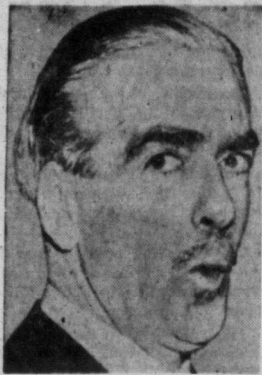

OTTAWA—Canada's correspondence with Sir Anthony Eden, British prime minister, setting out this country's reaction and appraisal of the British military gamble in the Middle East was cast in "blunt" terms and was described by a cabinet source here Thursday as "realistic, but not rude."

The messages exchanged between the British and Canadian prime ministers have kicked up a storm of reaction in the United Kingdom where rumors are flying thick and fast about the contents of the Canadian messages to Sir Anthony.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said in a statement this afternoon:

"The rumors that are said to be circulating in London and Ottawa are ridiculous. I have never had anything but friendly though frank communications with Sir Anthony Eden."

According to a Canadian Press report from London the last Ottawa letter to Sir Anthony delivered Monday is believed to have indicated that if the British prime minister persisted in his present policies there would not be much left that Canada's Hon. L. B. Pearson, secretary of state for external affairs, could do to help matters.

EDEN

Government sources here were reluctant to discuss the two letters sent to Britain by Prime Minister St. Laurent. The prime minister himself has flatly refused to discuss the contents of his diplomatic correspondence with Sir Anthony.

One source here said the letters might be described as "firm not tough; advisory, but not threatening."

The last Canadian message is believed to have suggested to Britain that the Franco-British forces should invoke a cease-fire in Egypt if the Canadian proposal to establish a United Nations International Police Force in the area was to make any headway. Shortly after the Ottawa message went to Britain the British government acting in concert with the French government ordered a cease-fire in the Middle East.

The first Canadian message to the British government is believed to have set forth in no uncertain terms that while Canada sympathized with the frustrations experienced by Britain in seeking to maintain peace in the Middle East, Canada could not agree with the resort to the use of force outside of the UN.

... friendly but frank."

Britain's Labor Party alarmed over the strain in Commonwealth relations tabled a motion in the U.K. Parliament Wednesday calling for a conference of Commonwealth prime ministers.

Reaction in Ottawa to the calling of such a conference immediately is that any such conference should not be convened for several months at least. Value of such a conference at this time is regarded as highly dubious. There should be a cooling-off period before it was convened.

Prime Minister St. Laurent in his broadcast Sunday night said that the "present crisis has strained the western alliance and the bonds of the Commonwealth more than any event since the Second World War."

Rt. Hon. R. G. Casey, minister of external affairs for Australia, said this week in Ottawa that he could not see any real value in holding a prime ministers' Commonwealth conference just now. The same reaction is apparent in Canadian government circles.

WARNING BY HARRIS

Canada Teeters On Inflation Brink

TORONTO (Special)—Canada is teetering on the brink of inflation, Finance Minister Walter Harris warned in an address to the Toronto Institute of Life Underwriters and the Life Underwriters Association of Toronto today.

Policies of restraint are essential by business, governments and citizens generally if the Canadian economy is to be prevented from plunging forward over the brink. Prudent curtailment of borrowing and spending are imperative, the minister stressed.

It was one of the bluntest speeches the finance minister has made on the subject of inflationary tendencies threatening the welfare of the Canadian economy.

"We do not want to have the boom carried to extremes and followed by a bust," the minister cautioned.

"We must not try to operate the economic machinery above its physical capacity," he added.

The minister discussed the tremendous expansion that has taken place in consumer credit. But he did not forecast any new curbs on consumer credit.

Spending Runs Ahead of Supply

"The economic situation at the present time is that there is a tendency for the overall rate of spending on goods and services to run ahead of the overall availability of goods and services. In these circumstances it is difficult to believe that it is either useful or desirable at this time to have the stimulus of continued increases in consumer credit."

The amount of consumer credit now outstanding is substantial—about $2.4 billion—or $700 per family. This is nearly 20 per cent higher than it was a year ago and about 50 per cent higher than it was in the prosperous year 1953," said Mr. Harris.

The Canadian economy is more active and vigorous than at any time in the country's history.

"By and large the consumer prices have been fairly stable since 1951 but there have been some disquieting increases in recent months... the continued stability of prices and the steadiness of the economic expansion are not something we can take for granted," the minister added.

"The danger against which we must all guard is the possibility that the aggregate of all spending intentions taken together will tend to outrun the total supply of goods and services available, and thus lead to rising prices and costs," he said.

This was the first time since the '20s that there had been any serious concern over the possibility of inflation and instability at a time when defence expenditures are relatively stable and when consumer and producers' goods are being produced in great abundance, Mr. Harris pointed out.

Total capital expenditure of all kinds in 1956 will be about $7.5 billion or about one-quarter greater than it was in 1955.

Roofing Firm Worker Killed

Crushed Between Roller, Fabric

A Sidney Roofing Co. employee was killed today in an accident at the plant.

Bert S. Edwards, 3065 High View, an employee of the firm for 16 years, was dead on arrival at Royal Jubilee Hospital at 1 p.m.

A company official said the victim was caught between a sheet of roofing fabric and a roller. He suffered extensive head injuries.

It was not known immediately how the accident occurred. There were no eyewitnesses. The company spokesman said an investigation would get under way this afternoon.

Balloonists Live To Tell Tale Of 15-Mile Drop

RAPID CITY, S.D. (UP)—Two navy balloonists survived a 78,000-foot fall (about 15 miles) from the stratosphere today and were picked up by a navy helicopter after plunging to earth five miles southeast of Kennedy, Neb.

The balloon started losing altitude fast after reaching maximum height and dropped to 62,000 feet within a few minutes.

It was completely out of control at 61,500 feet and the pilots were dropping ballast in an attempt to regain control.

They buckled themselves in the gondola when it began spinning crazily from its balloon attachment.

'SHARKS AWFUL'

Youth Survives 12-Day Ordeal

SOUTHPORT, N.C. (AP)—"Those sharks were awful. They came in droves, bumped their heads against the boat, kept whipping about in the water. When my buddy died I laid down in the bottom of the boat. I didn't want the sharks to see me."

Through cracked lips, 20-year-old Douglas Sessions of Laurinburg, N.C., thus described his 12 days at sea in a 14-foot home-made boat.

"I don't remember exactly," said the young tree surgeon when landed here early today by a coast guard boat, "just when J. Eddie Boone died, but I believe it was on the third day."

Sessions and the 34-year-old Boone had set out Oct. 27 on a short fishing excursion. Rough seas washed out their outboard motor and a receding tide pulled them to sea.

The freighter, Hess Petrel picked Sessions up 125 miles east of the South Carolina-Georgia border.

Just One More Push!

THE goal is in sight. In this year's "better-than-ever" Community Chest record, some $209,500 is on the books. President R. B. Wilson and campaign chairman Harry Gladwell think they know where another $6,500 in contributions is lurking.

That leaves only $4,000 to go, to make the $220,000 total.

This is the finest showing Victorians have ever made.

Officials were meeting this afternoon in what might be called "Operation Mop-Up"—the last kick which will put us over the top.

This can be achieved in three ways:

1. Contributions may be left at special booths being installed at Eaton's, the Bay and Woodwards.

2. You can mail cheques in to the Chest at Spencerhouse on Cook Street.

3. If you call the Chest (5-5222), a "flying squad" will run out to pick up your donation.

With our fingers reaching for the peak, it would be tragic if we could not summon up that extra ounce of energy which would open up the clear, exhilarating vistas from the summit!

Soviet Mid-East Plans Creating New Concern

French Report Migs in Syria

PARIS (UP)—French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau said today that Israeli reports indicated large numbers of Soviet planes, mostly powerful MIG-17s, were expected to arrive or had arrived in Syria.

The French foreign minister made the disclosure before the foreign affairs committee of the national assembly.

LONDON (CP)—The Middle East conflict gave signs today of spreading to the Israel-Jordan border, even before the precarious cease-fire in Egypt has been solidly established.

The Israeli army said Arab raiders from Jordan stabbed across a 30-mile stretch of the Israel border Wednesday night blowing up a water pipeline and three empty houses and attempting to sabotage a railway line and bridge.

This added new anxiety to a situation already endangered by the threat of Soviet military intervention.

Fears of Russian action in the Mid-East were heightened by reports the Egyptians were feverishly repairing their bomb-battered airfields.

New Bulganin Note Reported

Premier Bulganin, whose government offered Wednesday to help throw the British, French and Israeli forces out of Egypt if the UN approved, was reported preparing a new note to Prime Ministers Eden and Mollet.

Allied headquarters in Cyprus said the cease-fire in the Suez area was broken Wednesday by a skirmish between an Egyptian patrol and British troops.

An air ministry spokesman in London said some British bombers were withdrawn from the Suez area—an indication that Britain thinks full-scale military operations are unlikely to break out again.

But in some capitals there was immediate concern lest the reported Jordan border raid lead to a full-scale attack by one side or the other.

Egyptian raids of this sort were blamed by Israel for her drive into the Sinai Peninsula a week and a half ago.

Jordan, in addition to her own army, now is reported to have within her borders military formations from Iraq, Syria and Saudi Arabia. Syria, Saudi Arabia and Jordan are closely allied with Egypt.

Israel's Premier Ben-Gurion called a cabinet meeting after getting reports from his foreign minister, Mrs. Golda Meir, in Paris, Mrs. Meir, on her way to Washington.

United Nations headquarters in New York, was reported to have turned back to Israel.

There were reports in London that Prime Minister Eden might fly to Washington to confer with President Eisenhower on the crisis.

The United Nations pressed efforts to set up an international force to police the ceasefire and supervise withdrawal of British, French and Israeli troops from Egyptian territory.

Britain and France have flatly refused to pull out of the canal zone until the UN police force takes over the area.

Despite the conflicting demands of the combatants, the UN assembly last night authorized the command of the new UN force, headed by Canadian Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, to "proceed forthwith with the full organization."

Burns arrived in Cairo today to make preparations for taking over command of the UN force.

Twelve countries already have offered troops, and some UN delegates predicted that the first units would arrive in the Suez in two or three days.

On the canal front, Egypt said her people were still fighting hard last night in Port Said, Mediterranean terminal of the waterway. Buildings were ablaze from naval bombardment and water supplies were cut off by French capture of the city's reservoir.

Observers in Port Said estimated 1,500 Egyptians had been killed and several thousand wounded in the fight for the key port. British and French casualties were listed by Anglo-French headquarters in Cyprus as "just over 100 killed and wounded," but the wounded were still arriving at casualty stations.

Many of the Port Said's 177,000 inhabitants have fled.

Gen. Sir Charles Keightley, the Anglo-French commander, said Wednesday night that British commandos and paratroopers had advanced to a point near Quantara, about 30 miles south of Port Said. The cease-fire order told them to go no further.

Premier Mollet told the French National Assembly that no French ships had been hit and that only one French plane was lost.

defeating Democratic Senator Earle C. Clements.

Unofficial returns from 3,822 of 4,052 precincts gave Morton 479,215 votes and Clements 474,898, an edge of 4-417 for Morton.

Morton's expected victory would make the Senate count 49 Democrats and 47 Republicans, the same bare majority the Democrats held before the election.

In Congress the Democrats elected 225 members, 11 more than the necessary majority, and are leading in six undecided races. Present division now is 232 to 203 for Democrats.

Angry Ottawans Rebel While Russians Revel

OTTAWA (CP)—On the curb outside the Soviet ambassador's residence Wednesday night some of the placards read: "You can't kill people by shedding blood." "Stop killing women and children."

Inside the warm residence, Iron Curtain diplomats mingled freely, laughed, toasted the Soviet in vodka and whisky, and ate such delicacies as caviar, salmon coated in a chilled sauce, roast chicken and pork chops, tiny cocktail sausages and sliced cold meat.

It was the annual reception of Ambassador Dmitri Chuvashin in honor of the 39th anniversary of the Russian revolution. But virtually all major Western diplomats in this capital, including the Canadian cabinet, stayed away.

Canada's Mid-East Foreign Policy 'Unrealistic, Stupid'—Macklin

TORONTO (CP)—Canada's foreign policy was called "stupid" Wednesday by Maj.-Gen. W. H. S. Macklin, former adjutant-general of the Canadian army.

Gen. Macklin said the country's foreign policy, particularly with regard to the Middle East, "which was made in Washington, with which we have been trotting along, has been fallacious, unrealistic, wavering and stupid."

North Stars, 'Flying Boxcars' To Take Canadian Force to Suez

(From CP Dispatches)

OTTAWA — The airlift of 1,000 Canadian troops to the Middle East will be the biggest single job taken on by the RCAF's Air Transport Command since the Second World War.

It will strain the resources of the command to the limit.

The command will have, at the most, only 15 North Stars for the job and they probably will have to be augmented by a dozen C-119 Flying Boxcars.

No. 435 Flying Boxcar Squadron already has been ordered from Edmonton to the east to assist, if needed.

Officials say it is conceivable the lift could be carried out in one trip but that would not provide for supplies.

NO U.S. AID

Though the United States had offered originally to transport UN troops to the Middle East, it is now apparent the U.S. will have nothing to do with the UN force for fear that Russia will demand a hand in things.

Meanwhile, the Canadian Army said no particular battalion has yet been assigned to the Suez job.

But there was speculation the 1st Battalion, The Black Watch, based at Camp Aldershot, N.S., might go.

The Canadian contingent will not be ready to move for a few weeks, according to Prime Minister St. Laurent.

He said health precautions, such as inoculations, have to be taken.

ican strategists remain dissatisfied with the extent of their control here.

U.S. air commanders are continuing to demand control of the RCAF, he said. If they got that, the RCAF would become a "handmaiden" of the U.S. air force.

Forrest L. Shaw Again Heads City Liberals

Forrest L. Shaw, Liberal candidate in the last provincial general election, will be re-elected president at the annual meeting of Victoria Liberal Association next Thursday.

The meeting takes place at Liberal headquarters, 1322A Government Street, at 8 p.m. Mr. Shaw was the only nominee for the presidency when nominations closed at 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Other nominees for election at the annual meeting were: First vice-president, J. D. O'Toole; second vice-president, Mrs. J. L. Gates; H. F. Ketchell, Mrs. A. Ketchell; secretary, A. H. Cox; treasurer, Hugh D. Ramsay and Sidney C. Smith.

The government has indicated it referred to "policing operations" it does not expect the "injured" rather Canadian force to have to fight, than "wounded."

BRITISH COLUMBIA DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

HONOURABLE RALPH CHETWYND, MINISTER

Walter Agrees To Play Jones

One of the most colorful figures in the world of golf was Walter Hagen. Now, with the aid of Margaret Beaton Heck he has written his amazing life story. Because of world-wide popularity and the fact that he played in the city, the Times takes pleasure in presenting the Hagen's biography.

CHAPTER 17

During the fall and winter of 1925 golf writers continued to fan the tide of controversial argument about a match between Bobby Jones and me.

Naturally Jack Taylor and the promoters of the Whitefield Estates in Sarasota, where Bob played a lot, were eager for the match. Bobby's loyal fans were loud in their claim that I would be an easy take for him and my followers were just as vociferous in asserting I'd take Bobby like Grant took Richmond.

The press generally favored Bobby, and spent thousands of words explaining just why.

Personally I was not eager for the match for a number of reasons. Inasmuch as the papers said he was the better of the two of us, I'd have everything to gain and nothing to lose. But I was not keen on taking a beating from him.

Having won my second PGA title that year, my stock was selling pretty high. I couldn't see how a possible defeat at Jones' hands would increase its value.

Besides I was busy having a good time in Florida and I wasn't interested in interrupting the routine. What is more, Bobby, acknowledged the leading amateur champion of the United States and the public somehow had come to consider the amateurs as the Galahads of golf.

While I, rated as the leading match player, was a professional—the natural villain of the game.

I was in Dallas in the fall of

I Had Plenty of Time to Concentrate

"Me? Well, on my side there'll be you, me and my caddy. There'll be nobody and nothing to take my attention off my game. I can concentrate completely on what I'm doing. In a match of this kind I do better with my back against the wall. Do you get the idea?"

Harlow returned to Sarasota and made the final arrangements. Harlow was "lucky" enough to lose the coin toss and Bobby elected to play the first 36 holes of our challenge match on the Sarasota course on the date set, Feb. 28, 1926. Bobby had won the United States Amateur Championship for two consecutive years, match competition. In the last six National Opens in which he and I had both played, he finished ahead of me five times and I finished ahead of him only once.

Doubtless, galleries who have followed golf for a considerable time agree that the mental phase of challenge matches or tournament play is a most important one. I don't mean so much the process of reasoning and thinking out what is best to do under any given set of circumstances or conditions in the course of a round. I mean the time the player begins to feel the pressure put on him by tournament strain.

When he allows himself to worry or fret over things he has no business bothering his mind with at all.

But the most important quality in my mental approach to golf competition was the fact I could forget the last bad shot and concentrate on the next . . . or the next, if the second shot happened to be as wild as the first. And believe me, that has occurred many, many times in my game.

(From the book THE WALTER HAGEN STORY Copyright, 1934, by Walter Hagen. Published by Simon & Schuster New York.)

LORDS, DUTCHIES WIN

Jacobs, Graham ORFU Semi Stars

London Lords, playing their first season of senior football, will meet Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, two-time title winners, for the Ontario Rugby Football Union senior championship.

Lords, in fourth place all year, fought their way into the final Wednesday night with a 35-19 upset over Toronto Beavers in a sudden-death semi-final while Dutchmen, returning to mid-season form, buried Sarnia Golden Bears 29-7.

The 6,000 fans who watched London's triumph got full reward for their support through a season that saw Lords win only three games, as quarterback-coach Indian Jack Jacobs passed and kicked his team to victory over the second-place Beavers.

JACOBS BUSY Jacobs kicked four converts and two field goals, passed for one touchdown and set up another by the same route. Halves Bernie Bucholtz, Ed D'Armon and Dale Creighton scored London touchdowns and tackle Jack O'Toole got the fourth after intercepting a pass.

Speedy Bernie Custis got two for Beavers, Ed Babcock got the other and Tommy Urowitz added a single on an attempted field goal that was wide.

At Kitchener it was all Billy

Games Officials Plea for Unity

MELBOURNE (AP) — The first big planeload of United States athletes arrived today as international Olympic officials sought to lead some of the withdrawn nations back into the Melbourne fold.

Some sparkle had gone out of the preparations for the massive international sports spectacle opening Nov. 22 by the withdrawals of Holland, Spain, Red China and Iraq. Efforts were started today by Wilfred Kent-Hughes, chairman of the organizing committee, and Otto Mayer, chancellor of the International Olympic Committee, to lure some countries—especially Holland—back into the games.

Kent-Hughes, who appealed to the nations of the world Wednesday to overcome international distrust and jealousies in the true spirit of the Olympics, cabled the Dutch national Olympic committee to reconsider its decision.

The Dutch flag is still flying in Olympic Village and a small group of six Netherlands here are still hoping they will be able to stay.

Questioned by newspaper men on the prospects of the U.S. team, Kenneth Wilson, president of the U.S. Olympic committee, said:

"This is the greatest Olympic team we have ever fielded. I am confident we can duplicate our performances at Helsinki in 1952 when we won 14 track and field medals."

DODGERS AGAIN LOSE
SHIZUOKA, Japan (AP)—Japan All-Stars pushed across a run in the last of the ninth inning today and again beat Brooklyn Dodgers 3-2 before 20,000 fans. It was the Dodgers' fourth loss against 10 wins and one tie on their Japan tour.

Can't Please Anyone; Officials Quit

HAMILTON (CP)—Seymour Wilson, referee-in-chief of the Big Four Football Union, said Wednesday night two of his officials, under fire from Hamilton and Ottawa, have asked to be relieved of officiating duties in any further playoff games this season.

Wilson said he has accepted the requests from Jimmy Simpson of Hamilton and John Munro of Toronto, and that replacements will be named for the two-game, home-and-home final between Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Montreal Alouettes that rounds out Big Four play.

A tussle over the two officials arose Tuesday when Simpson was appointed an umpire and Munro judge of play for Wednesday's sudden-death semifinal here between the Tiger-Cats and Ottawa Rough Riders. Hamilton won 46-21. Jim McCaffrey, Ottawa general manager and Big Four president, said "We think he (Simpson) is too biased in favor of Hamilton."

Jake Gaudaur, Ticat president, countered by protesting Munro's appointment, claiming Ticats believed he "is prejudiced against our team."

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

Buick Roadmaster 4-door Riviera

You know all that talk you've been hearing about the 1957 new car models being really new?

Well, in the case of the 1957 Buicks it's true—gospel true.

And we bring them to you with a soaring enthusiasm we can hardly contain—the newest new Buicks ever built.

All New—and Then some!

We mean these 1957 Buicks are new in the precise and literal sense.

We mean new from the ground up, and from gleaming grille to sassy taillights.

We mean new lowness, new styling, new bodies, new windshields, new controls, new safety-padded instrument panels, new safety steering wheels, new seating, new fabrics, new colors.

We mean new front end, new rear end, new frame, new braking, new steering, new handling, new riding, new roadability—a whole new chassis of greater solidity and safety.

We mean V8 engines new from the crankshaft up—engines that poise on new nodal-point mountings for peak freedom from vibration—that "feed" through a rust-free fuel system—that breathe freer and deeper to deliver an all-time high in horsepower and compression from their 364-cubic-inch displacement.

And we mean, most of all, an advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflo*—so instant in the starting range—so utterly smooth and so totally full-range in "Drive" that your need for "Low" is practically eliminated.

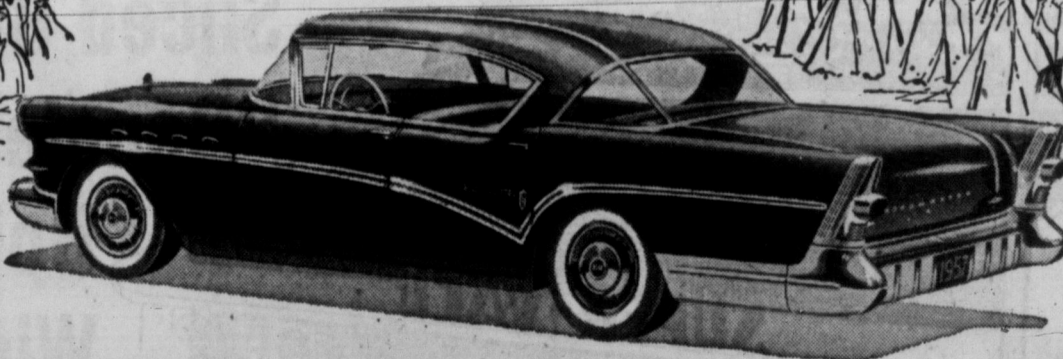

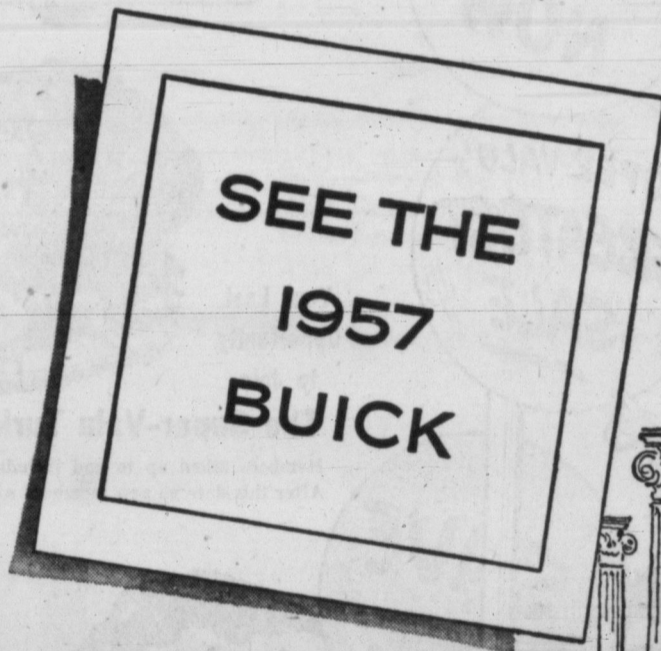

So come take in these low-silhouette, these boldly beautiful, these instantly obedient Buicks for 1957.

Come learn about the host of wonders to be had here—including a true work-wagon with the racy and airy grace of a pillarless 4-Door hardtop Riviera—the most beautiful Estate Wagon you ever beheld.

Then you'll see why you can't blame us for being so fired up about it all—and how catching this excitement can be.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Paganinis 'Live' Show Perfection

By AUDREY S.D. JOHNSON
Times Music Critic

Listening to the Paganini Quartet in its Art Gallery sponsored concert Wednesday night at Victoria High School, one was more than ever impressed with the fact this intimate and exquisite music must be heard "live" to enjoy its full savor.

Any recording or televised performance can give only an approximation of the essential character. The personalities and gifts of the musicians themselves become so involved and absorbed in the music that only their physical presence can bring complete satisfaction. The core of their perfection is their immense and equal power of concentration and unanimity of viewpoint. As a result of this, and their absolute technical freedom, they escape that spread-over-all patina of slickness noticeable in some other distinguished ensembles.

UNIQUE SPIRIT

Each composition performed stands out as a separate and individualistic creation with its own unique spirit and aura.

A switch was made from the programmed Mozart E flat major Quartet to the D major as a concert opener, first violinist Temianka explaining that the "tonality agreed better with Benjamin Britten's work"—the second item.

The Mozart was crystalline in quality and there was a particularly lovely cello solo in the final movement, with an accompaniment of high-pitched, lively violin conversation.

Britten's first of two quartets is a work one would wish to hear as often as possible because it is arresting, vital and fanciful, but so challenging in its ideas that it cannot be fully comprehended at one hearing.

ALMOST ERIE

As performed by the Paganinis, it had a wonderful, almost erie atmosphere with a sustained effect in the opening that was like the continuous distant chiming of innumerable tiny bells.

Then we came to the Beethoven C major. And what Beethoven this was. The giant in a moment of delighting in the miniature; a lovely limpid andante movement, a sparkling finale like a shower of diamond dust.

This is a virtuoso ensemble indeed, but the adjective is used in its finest and fullest sense. Their virtuosity lies not only in a wizard-like display of technical brilliance, but in their ability to invoke an endless variety of moods and to produce subtle changes in tonal texture, as distinct from dynamics.

Labor Group Protests Anti-Socred Remarks

John Aubry Defends Right Of Individual to Express Opinion

Strong protest regretting "unauthorized statements" of officers of Victoria Labor Council following the September provincial election has been voiced by an affiliated local union.

United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers' International Union local 277 objected to statements regretting the return of the Social Credit government.

The union's objection was read at a VLC meeting Wednesday night and after debate was received and filed according to an earlier executive recommendation.

A motion of non-concurrence with the executive recommendation was defeated.

President John MacKenzie said he would have ruled the reprimand out of order if it had come directly to the floor of the meeting without executive action. He reasoned council voted unanimously prior to the election on a motion recommending affiliated membership to do all in its power to defeat Social Credit.

Mr. Chisholm said that the federal government should investigate Canada's position in relation to European trade as well as the possibility of opening trade with the Chinese mainland.

The Conservatives passed resolutions urging a European free trade area and widening of British preferential rates.

Another resolution called for the introduction of humane killing methods in Canadian slaughterhouses.

John Diefenbaker was endorsed in the national leadership contest. Chosen as delegates to the national Conservative convention were Mrs. G. R. Pearkes, Hugh Henderson and C. H. Renzie.

Alternate delegates are George McGregor, Mrs. Violet Eddy and A. R. Walker.

He defended the right of any individual to express his opinion of a political party, trade union officer, or not.

A cement workers' delegate stated he did not believe the reprimand expressed a true feeling of his local's membership. The night it was passed, he said, attendance was small.

Cement workers' president Jack Todd said before the council meeting, "Our membership took the stand that someone was telling them how to vote. We're a labor organization and we want to pull for labor, that's all."

The resolution pointed out council is a non-partisan organization and each person has the free and democratic right to vote the way he sees fit.

COLORFUL DRESS
Pipers and drummers in Pakistan's army wear plaids from Scotland and native turbans.

"It is most encouraging to find that so many people in Greater Victoria feel as I do," Gen. Pearkes told the Times today.

"I have had a great many letters from persons in Victoria, Saanich and Esquimalt, and some of them are strongly worded letters. They call for all-out support of our allies in times of crisis."

General Pearkes is Conservative MP for Esquimalt-Saanich. In a speech to the Victoria Federal Conservative Association last week, General Pearkes attacked Canada's federal government for not taking a firm stand in support of Britain and France.

He also criticized the Ottawa government for permitting Canadian arms to be sold to Israel and Egypt earlier this year.

"The letters I have received show that there is plenty of support for my views—in this part of the world at least," General Pearkes said.

Three Miners Killed
WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP)—Three miners were killed and a fourth injured critically Wednesday in a gas explosion 600 feet below the surface in the Truesdale Colliery here. The men were installing steel shafts for a water pump when the explosion occurred. Investigators are attempting to determine its cause.

Canada Aids Refugees

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada is to contribute $100,000 towards immediate requirements of Hungarian refugees fleeing Soviet retaliation in their homeland.

Prime Minister St. Laurent announced Wednesday night that the government has decided to make the special contribution to the United Nations Refugee Fund.

The government will also make a contribution of $100,000 to the Canadian Red Cross to assist it in providing basic relief supplies and services to refugees crossing by thousands into Austria since the Russians moved in to crush the Hungarian freedom fighters.

The contribution to the UN Refugee Fund, the prime minister's announcement said, will be in addition to the $200,000 Canada will be giving the fund in 1957 for assisting refugees generally.

Second Coming of Christ in December '57, Says British-Israelist

By DINAH KERR

Coming of Jesus Christ in December of 1957 followed by 1,000 years of peace on earth was predicted here today by R. E. Wemp, of Toronto, secretary-general of the British-Israel World Federation in Canada.

According to indications in the Bible, Christ will come in the flesh and will be received "wonderfully," he said.

But before His coming—probably Dec. 12—there will be one last great war between Russia and the Western nations.

Prophecy in the Bible "the history—past, present and future—of the human race" points to a Russian invasion of the Middle East and North Africa, Wemp claimed.

"We will lose battle after battle until we have no recourse and then as a nation we will turn to God.

"Of course we won't do this until we have to," he said.

"We'd rather take the word of Nasser, Khrushchev and Tito. We'll think we're safe until suddenly the attack comes."

Christ will not descend to earth until the West has suffered "perhaps the worst thing we've ever had," he said. "It will compel us to get down on our knees in prayer and we will ask the King to come back."

Western nations cannot depend on the United Nations for help, Wemp said.

"The United Nations organization is absolutely Godless. Never once has it offered up a word of prayer. It is part of the devil's plot to beat God to the draw in establishing world government."

"Our governments are receiving advice from Satan's men," he charged. "They're deceived as Jesus said even the very elect themselves would be deceived."

According to British-Israelist theory, Anglo-Celtic-Saxon races are God's chosen people—not the Jews.

"We are the only people on this earth who answer to the description the Bible gives of the Israel people," Wemp explained.

"We are doing and being everything the Bible said the Israelites would do and be."

"The Israel people were to have their headquarters in the isles of the sea, northwest of Palestine and at the 'utmost part of the earth'."

"This could only be the British Isles," he said.

"The Bible says the Israel people would colonize the waste plains of the earth and form the fifth world empire. "The British Commonwealth answers all these qualifications—it is the fifth world empire, preceded by the empires of Babylon, Medo-Persia, Greece and Rome."

In addition, the Israel people were always to have direct descendants of King David on the throne, Wemp said. "It has been proved that Queen Elizabeth II is a descendant of David."

Right now everything is going exactly as the Bible predicts, he said.

"As I see it, in the Scriptures, Britain had to get out of the Middle East, North Africa and the Mediterranean for a short time. This is indicated in the 11th and 12th chapters of Daniel.

"Our power was to be scattered until the enemy could gather for a final onslaught in an attempt to conquer the world."

"Russia is determined upon that conquest in supporting Nasser and getting the Arabic states to stand behind Nasser and filling the Arabs with the idea that the Western powers were supporting the Jews against the Arabs."

Now Wemp is looking for a temporary compromise unless Russia jumps the gun and attacks the West immediately.

"There is every possibility that this will happen in the next year," he said.

Here is how the British-Israelists arrived at the exact date of Christ's coming:

The Bible states Jerusalem shall be trodden down for 2,520 years—an "age of punishment" set because the Israel people turned against God in 604 B.C.

This period ended Dec. 12, 1917, when General Allenby set Jerusalem free, Wemp says.

Christ is expected to arrive on earth one generation (40 years) after the freeing of Jerusalem—which will be Dec. 12, 1957.

Wemp spoke at a public meeting sponsored by the Victoria branch of the British-Israel World Federation Wednesday night.

BETWEEN TIMES

MONTÉ ROBERTS

There is a man in Winnipeg who has been suffering unduly due to a noisy moth.

It appears this moth made great crunching noises while it was eating, and the poor man had great difficulty getting to sleep.

In fact, matters got so bad the man had to evict the moth from his apartment, much as he hated to interfere with the balance of nature.

The reason I know all this is that naturally, the man in question wrote to the paper about it.

People—bless them—always write to the paper about anything troubling them, from noisy moths to potatoes that look like ducks and ducks that look like potatoes.

In this case, the man wrote to Graham Smith of the Winnipeg Tribune, and Graham obligingly did a bit of research. He asked the curator of the Manitoba museum, and the curator stated the moth couldn't have been making noises while eating, because moths possess no mandibles. No mandibles, no noise, said the curator, flatly.

Do you think this helped the man with the noisy moth? It did not. It only added to his troubles.

Curator or no curator, he was sure he had heard this noisy moth making crunching noises.

So he did a little research on his own hook, and in an Orkney Isles paper, found reference to a moth there which makes squeaking noises, like a mouse, when alarmed.

So our man with the noisy moth again wrote Graham, and said perhaps this noisy moth hadn't been making crunching noises after all, perhaps they were squeaking noises.

Graham called on the museum curator once again, and the curator said yes, he'd heard of a moth which was supposed to make squeaking noises, but blessed if he knew how, and HE had never heard one.

And that is where the matter stands. I am all agog to learn the next development, and I do hope Graham Smith will press on for further information.

I am anxiously awaiting word of a mouse that makes noises like a moth.

Can you oblige, Mr. Smith?

Asked by Magistrate H. C. Hall how he wished to plead, Quinn first said, "I imagine guilty," and then, "guilty with reservations."

Later Quinn said he had intended to make restitution, "but never got around to it."

FIRST PRESIDENT of the new Gordon Head School is Mrs. Andrew Stewart (above), 1760 Joyland. Her executive includes honorary president, P. D. Parfitt, principal; vice-president, Mrs. C. A. Peterson; secretary, Mrs. Jack Irving, and treasurer, Drummond Taylor.

At least one little girl in Korea is going to be mighty happy this Christmas.

She'll wake up to find a huge Christmas stocking under her tree, stuffed with a warm sweater, two pairs of gloves, a hat, skipping rope, taffy, crayons and a crayon-book.

Most of these presents have been purchased by the Mt. View High School Y-teens for their adopted "sister" in Pusan, Korea—young Kim Ai Ja, 13.

The Y-teens adopted Kim last March through the B.C. branch of the "Save the Children Fund."

They have been gelling doughnuts to their schoolmates every week, along with pies, cheer mops, and soup.

In order to raise $50 to pay for Kim's clothing, education and food this year.

Kim lives with her mother and two brothers in a widow's home because her father was killed six years ago in the Korean war.

She has written a letter to the Mt. View Y-teens which was translated by a member of the Save the Children Fund, a branch of the Unitarian Services Committee.

CHRISTIAN WAY

Here are excerpts: "I think that everything in your civilized England must be the Christian way of life. I don't know the surroundings under which you are studying but you are happier than I. My father was carried off by the Communists six years ago. I think God that I can study continuously. My mother's work as a machinist keeps our family from being hungry but sometimes I go to school without any food. I have suffered much from poverty."

In addition to money for food and clothing, the Mt. View Y-teens have sent Canadian postcards, coins and a little of the history of Canada to Kim.

Directing "Operation Christmas Stocking" at Mt. View High is Yteen president Margaret Nelson, 17, who won the PTA prize in June for the highest average in Grade 11.

6 New School Sites Pinpointed by Board

Sites of six proposed new schools in the 1956 school building program were disclosed by Greater Victoria School Board today.

Options have been taken on most of the 79 acres required for new construction and additions in the $5,600,000 program.

If district-ratepayers approve the school by-law at December elections, new schools will appear on the following sites in the next five-year period:

Esquimalt Senior High School (the present high school will probably become a junior high) is expected to rise on a 15-acre site on the east side of Lamson, between Colville and Ellery, about one-third of a mile north of the present high school.

Gordon Head Junior High, west side of Gordon Head Road between Ruby Road and Feltham Road on an 18-acre site.

Craigflower Elementary School (six rooms), on the north side of the old Island Highway just west of Admirals Road and Craigflower Auto Court, near old Craigflower manor. Ten acres will be required for the grounds and building.

Shelbourne Elementary, north of Mortimer and west of Gordon Head Road, adjoining the eastern end of the old Howroyd subdivision. It is another 10-acre site.

Uplands Elementary, at the north end of Henderson Street in a new subdivision in the old Hudson's Bay lands north of Lansdowne. The school will be west of the ninth fairway of Uplands Golf Course on a nine-acre tract.

Hampton Elementary, on the north side of Lurline overlooking Hampton Park and with permission of Saanich council, the park grounds would be merged with the school playing area and made available to the pupils.

Greater part of the new school program will be in form of additions to existing schools.

Although no school is yet planned, the board is also negotiating for a site north of Swan Lake on McKenzie Avenue which would relieve crowding at Glandford, McKenzie Avenue and Cloverdale.

At the completion of the program there will be 40 school units in school district 61.

NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS

Crescent, Athabaskan, Sioux, New Glasgow, Ste. Therese, Stettler, Sussexvale on exercises in B.C. coastal waters, returning Nov. 16.

Comox, James Bay, Fortune and Cordova on exercises, returning Nov. 23.

Not Guilty Plea On Gaming Charge

Seizure of a number of pinball machines last week in the Jimmie Little store, 2017 Quadra, was followed up in city police court today.

A plea of not guilty was entered by Donald McAlpine to a charge of keeping a common gaming house. He was remanded to Nov. 15 for trial.

Counsel Donald Anderson asked that the case be dealt with as soon as possible.

"This matter (of pinball machines) is now before city council and the case should be disposed of quickly," he said.

Magistrate H. C. Hall said, however, the court could not take cognizance of what was going on outside.

MORE DETAILS

Mr. Anderson also asked the prosecutor for more particulars in the charge as to how the offence was committed.

"This is either an attempt to affirm a new interpretation of the code or confirm a recent interpretation," he said.

Mr. Bigelow said the prosecution would attempt to prove the store was in possession of slot machines and also the machines were played.

The charge of keeping a common gaming house is laid under the Criminal Code.

3-Weeks' Holiday For HBC Workers

Three weeks' annual vacation with pay for employees with 10 years' service was announced today by C. N. Chubb, manager of Hudson's Bay Co. store.

Formerly employees required 15 years' service for three weeks' annual holiday with pay.

1,300 B.C. Delegates For Vancouver Meeting

Social Credit's platform in the next federal election, expected in June, will be determined by some 1,300 delegates assembling in Vancouver today for the annual convention of the B.C. Social Credit League.

The delegates represent 52 Social Credit constituency associations throughout the province. Victoria's 25-man delegation will be led by John D. Johnson, newly-elected president of the Victoria Constituency Association.

"It will be the biggest convention we have had since the league was formed," Mr. Johnson said.

"We shall hammer out our policy in the next federal election and a number of resolutions on that policy will be considered."

"We plan to contest all B.C. seats in the Ottawa House."

Solomon Low, National Social Credit leader, is to address the convention Friday and copies of all resolutions will be circulated among the delegates.

Mr. Low also will speak at a banquet in the Hotel Vancouver Friday evening.

Premier Bennett is addressing a meeting of the provincial women's organization in the Georgia Auditorium today and will be heard at the full league conference, which opens Friday morning and continues until Saturday afternoon.

Noel Murphy, president of the B.C. League, will be chairman at the convention sessions.

SCULPTORS TO COMPETE FOR B.C. BIRTHDAY PRIZE

The British Columbia Centennial Committee in an effort to stimulate sculpting is offering a $20,000 prize for a piece executed by a B.C. resident, it was learned today.

According to present plans, it would be placed in front of the Legislative Buildings.

While there has been no official statement from the committee, the award is known to be under study for the centennial year, 1958.

Airport Service Station May End Free Parking Area

The Federal Department of Transport has approved the leasing of the present "free parking" area at Patricia Bay airport for service station use, it was learned today.

The department's decision may bring to an end free parking for Victorians who leave their cars at the airport for short business trips to Vancouver.

A department of transport official said a service station will be constructed on the parking site and rates charged for day and overnight parking.

He added that he had not yet received details of the plan, but believed the department did not intend to lease the entire parking area. This would mean there would still be a small free parking area if it is still retained as such, he said.

The Victoria Chamber of Commerce is concerned about the leasing of the parking area.

Hector Crombie, secretary, said the Chamber has written to Ottawa for information on the parking-service station deal.

Meanwhile, some businessmen plan to protest against a fixed rate parking area at the airport. The extra parking expenses, they feel, will indirectly raise the cost of travel for business people who make frequent day trips to Vancouver.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—I am given to understand that foreshore rights are only leased by the government. Have they ever been sold outright to owners of waterfront property? —A.W.

A.—Yes, foreshore rights are nowadays leased, but never sold. There are some cases on Vancouver Island in which they were sold and now are owned by the property owners. They date back to Hudson's Bay Company days. When B.C. entered Confederation these HBC sales were honored, hence the existence of these notable exceptions.

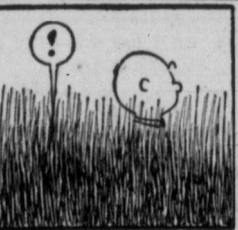

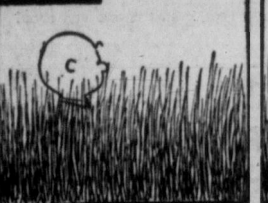

Q.—What is the population of Port Said, on which much world attention has been centred? —D.B.

A.—As recorded in the World Almanac, 1956, the most recent census gave the population as 178,432. It dates from 1859. Thus it is not one of the ancient cities of that part of the world.

Black suede, plain or with dots or gold or silver are there, too, to offset your costume. Whatever the occasion, whatever your taste, these watchbands are just the thing. They're priced at $3.95 each. Put a little hint in the ear of some gift-buying friend, and you might receive a "surprise" come Christmas.

Barrick-Taylor Wedding
In St. Martin's Church

Baskets of autumn-hued chrysanthemums formed a setting in St. Martin's-in-the-Field Anglican Church for the wedding of Edythe Catherine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor, 635 Burnside Road West, to H. J. Clifton Barrick, son of H. Barrick, 900 Violet Street. Rev. S. J. Wickens officiated.

The bride chose a princess style, ballerina length gown of white lace lined with silk, having a matching sleeveless jacket with pleated front and low, V-shaped back. The jacket was trimmed with white taffeta ribbon, pleated at the waist and extending to a large bow at back. She wore a corsage of rapture roses and carried a white prayer book. Her accessories were a tiny blue satin hat, blue shoes and gloves. The groom's gift, a matching set of Alaska black diamond earrings and necklace completed her ensemble.

Bridesmaid, Miss Sheila McKinnon, wore a ballerina length gown of old rose lace with gored skirt, three-quarter length sleeves and squared neckline. She wore navy accessories and a corsage of rapture roses.

Lt.-Cmdr. Geoff Barrick was best man for his brother, and Garth Taylor, brother of the bride, and Fred Sparks were ushers. During signing of the register, William Paterson sang a solo.

On Etiquette

About unaccepted invitations: My husband says I am oversensitive. Tell me what you think. I have invited a certain couple to dinner on three occasions. Each time they have refused with some unconvincing excuse. They have not invited us to their home. I say to them alone until they give some sign that they wish to carry on the friendship. My husband says that is childish and that I should go ahead and invite them.

Louise Davis thinks again. I don't want them to think we are chasing after them.

Louise Davis answers:

Three times is definitely enough especially when you sensed unconvincing excuses on the other occasions. Leave them alone and let them make the next move if they want to, and if not why embarrass yourself with more overtures?

If some time in the future you are giving an "at home" party, which doesn't usually require an acceptance or regret, you could include this couple on your invitation list and see what happens. At least you won't have to listen to a flimsy excuse.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Facts for Happy Life

Life is difficult for most folks. Even those who seem so blessed and happy may have heartaches of which we know nothing. Living is full of complexities, of constant readjustments, of lights and shadows, and sooner or later the average individual gets his share of the shadows.

Adaptability is the saving grace! Once we are faced with an accomplished, unhappy fact or an unchangeable situation, we must adjust to it if we are to survive as happy and successful persons. We must often replace one dream or one plan with another even though the first may have been nearer to our heart's desire.

Yet so many persons are unadaptable even in matters which are trivial when compared to real trouble. They stew because they cannot live where they wish, because they cannot buy that new hat, because Mrs. So-and-So did not treat them just as they thought she should, because they are not appreciated by their family.

Many such persons live in a perpetual state of irritation because of their necessarily close contact, due to family or business affiliations, with someone who annoys them. Goodness knows, human nature is not perfect and relatives belong to the human race. Some of them can be hell on wheels. However, even though these situations cannot be most trying, if you cannot do anything about it you must adjust or injure your health and your personality and your happiness.

I think it helps to adapt if we look for the reason for another's cussedness. Almost always it stems from poor health or emotional immaturity or insecurity, from hurt or fear of some sort. I suppose there is such a thing as pure selfishness. When you come in close touch with that, just don't let it get you down!

The tenderhearted, perceptive person has a hard time weaving her way between being imposed upon and giving of her understanding and warmth. Of course, nothing is so helpful as a sense of humor.

Many of the difficult family problems are concerned with the older members of the family. If you could just realize that many of their eccentricities come from hardening of the arteries of the brain, you would be more tolerant. That can happen to any one of us, and will, if we live long enough.

Life is surging through our hearts and minds and bodies every single day. Let us try to adapt to the changing circumstances it brings us.

Southern California Honeymoon
Then Couple to Live in Nanaimo

Departure Bay, Nanaimo, will be the home of Earle Edward Patterson, and his bride, the former Miss Marion Dorothy Coleman, principals in a double ring ceremony at Queen's Avenue United Church, New Westminster, on Nov. 3. Rev. W. E. Fullerton officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. C. Percy Rumble, Ladysmith, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Patterson of Chemainus.

Given in marriage by her stepfather, C. Percy Rumble, the bride wore a period gown of white mouseline de sole and Alencon lace. It was made with fitted bodice, edged at the yoke line with lace flowers. The fully crinolined skirt, applied with lace, extended to a chapel-length train.

The bride's headress of matching lace held a fingertip veil of French illusion net. A cluster of white orchids and lily of the valley formed her bouquet.

Autumn shades of brown, green, gold and red in the attendants' dresses were an attractive contrast for the bride's gown. The crinolined dresses were waltz-length and were trimmed with ties falling to hemline.

Mrs. J. Makarenko, Burquitlam, was matron of honor; Mrs. P. Ferguson and Mrs. K. H. Rumble of New Westminster, bride's matrons, and Miss Marilyn Clarke, Ladysmith, bridesmaid.

MID-EAST

United Nations headquarters in New York, was reported to have turned back to Israel.

There were reports in London that Prime Minister Eden might fly to Washington to confer with President Eisenhower on the crisis.

The United Nations pressed efforts to set up an international force to police the cease-fire and supervise withdrawal of British, French and Israeli troops from Egyptian territory.

Britain and France have flatly refused to pull out of the canal zone until the UN police force takes over the area.

Despite the conflicting demands of the combatants, the UN assembly last night authorized the command of the new UN force, headed by Canadian Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, to "proceed forthwith with the full organization."

Burns arrived in Cairo today to make preparations for taking over command of the UN force.

Twelve countries already have offered troops, and some UN delegates predicted that the first units would arrive in the Suez in two or three days.

On the canal front, Egypt said her people were still fighting hard last night in Port Said, Mediterranean terminal of the waterway. Buildings were ablaze from naval bombardment and water supplies were cut off by French capture of the city's reservoir.

Observers in Port Said estimated 1,500 Egyptians had been killed and several thousand wounded in the fight for the key port. British and French casualties were listed by Anglo-French headquarters in Cyprus as "just over 100 killed and wounded," but the wounded were still arriving at casualty stations.

Many of the Port Said's 177,700 inhabitants have fled.

Gen. Sir Charles Keightley, the Anglo-French commander, said Wednesday night that British commandos and paratroopers had advanced to a point near Quantara, about 30 miles south of Port Said. The cease-fire order told them to go no further.

Premier Mollet told the French National Assembly that no French ships had been hit and that only one French plane was lost.

gested to Britain that the Franco-British forces should invoke a cease-fire in Egypt if the Canadian proposal to establish a United Nations International Police Force in the area was to make any headway. Shortly after the Ottawa message went to Britain the British government acting in concert with the French government ordered a cease-fire in the Middle East.

The first Canadian message to the British government is believed to have set forth in no uncertain terms that while Canada sympathized with the frustrations experienced by Britain in seeking to maintain peace in the Middle East, Canada could not agree with the resort to the use of force outside of the UN.

Britain's Labor Party alarmed over the strain in Commonwealth relations tabled a motion in the U.K. Parliament Wednesday calling for a conference of Commonwealth prime ministers.

Reaction in Ottawa to the calling of such a conference immediately is that any such conference should not be convened for several months at least. Value of such a conference at this time is regarded as highly dubious. There should be a cooling-off period before it was convened.

Prime Minister St. Laurent in his broadcast Sunday night said that the "present crisis has strained the western alliance and the bonds of the Commonwealth more than any event since the Second World War."

Rt. Hon. R. G. Casey, minister of external affairs for Australia, said this week in Ottawa that he could not see any real value in holding a prime ministers' Commonwealth conference just now. The same reaction is apparent in Canadian government circles.

City Letter From Vienna Tells of Budapest Fighting

Hungarian sources give 13,000 dead in the Budapest fighting compared with the Russian figure of 2,500, a letter received here from Vienna said.

Mrs. Kurt Cihak, 3339 Oak Street, received the letter today from her mother-in-law, written Nov. 3.

The "distance between Budapest and Vienna is comparable to Victoria and Nanaimo, so would make the Senate count 49 Democrats and 47 Republicans, the same bare majority the Democrats held before the election.

In Congress the Democrats elected 229 members, 11 more than the necessary majority, and are leading in six undecided races. Present division now is 232 to 203 for Democrats.

Balloonists Live To Tell Tale Of 15-Mile Drop

RAPID CITY, S.D. (UP)—Two navy balloonists survived a 78,000-foot fall (about 15 miles) from the stratosphere today and were picked up by a navy helicopter after plunging to earth five miles southeast of Kennedy, Neb.

The balloon started losing altitude fast after reaching maximum height and, dropped to 62,000 feet within a few minutes.

It was completely out of control at 61,500 feet and the pilots were dropping ballast in an attempt to regain control.

They buckled themselves in the gondola when it began spinning crazily from its balloon attachment.

The balloon was sent aloft by the navy to pry new secrets from the fringes of space.

Canada's Mid-East Foreign Policy 'Unrealistic, Stupid'—Macklin

TORONTO (CP)—Canada's foreign policy was called "stupid" Wednesday by Maj.-Gen. W. H. S. Macklin, former adjutant-general of the Canadian army.

Gen. Macklin said the country's foreign policy, particularly with regard to the Middle East, "which was made in Washington, with which we have been trotting along, has been fallacious, unrealistic, wavering and stupid."

Addressing the Electric Club of Toronto, he said the vote of the United States with the Soviet Union in the United Nations to ensure the United Kingdom and France for their intention in the Suez Canal area "will result in damage to peace by this bone-headed, ill-tempered and petulant action that will not be repaired in a day."

"Made-in-Washington" policy left the Canadian army badly equipped, without air support and so run-down it could fight for only two months before it began suffering a manpower shortage, the general said.

Canada's main strategy, he said, was to provide air defence to the U.S. Strategic Air Force. "We are spending a huge proportion of our resources on a strategy made in Washington, resting on the terror inspired by the hydrogen bomb."

"This strategy cannot be employed in any sort of dispute or conflict whatever, except in nuclear war."

"There is at least as much risk of this country degenerating into an American dependency in the sphere of defence as in the sphere of economics."

"Yet the more rabid of American strategists remain dissatisfied with the extent of their control here."

It was the annual reception of Ambassador Dmitri Chuvahin in honor of the 39th anniversary of the Russian revolution. But virtually all major Western diplomats in this capital, including the Canadian cabinet, stayed away.

Police watched as the demonstrators, paraded up and down, Soviet embassy officers also watched. But there were no outbursts.

The placards appealed to the Russians to stop the bloodshed in Hungary. One they carried was printed in Russian.

"What Socialist force shoots workers?" it read and then answered its own question: "The Soviet army."

Inside, ambassador Chuvahin, in evening clothes, greeted guests. But among the scores of diplomats in this capital, outside of the Iron Curtain satellites there were only two who went: Egypt's El Hussein el Khatib, and the Mexican charge d'affaires, Dr. Salvador Pardo Bolland.

North Stars, 'Flying Boxcars' To Take Canadian Force to Suez

(From CP Dispatches)

OTTAWA — The airlift of 1,000 Canadian troops to the Mid-East will be the biggest single job taken on by the RCAF's Air Transport Command since the Second World War.

It will strain the resources of the command to the limit. The command will have, at the most, only 15 North Stars for the job and they probably will have to be augmented by a dozen C-119 Flying Boxcars.

No. 435 Flying Boxcar Squadron already has been ordered from Edmonton to the east to assist, if needed.

Officials say it is conceivable the lift could be carried out in one trip but that would not provide for supplies.

Pilot Survives Second Crash

EDMONTON (CP)—Argentine pilot George Gonzalez has survived his second plane crash in the sub-Arctic within a month.

The plane he was forced to land on an unnamed Northwest Territories lake last month—a landing which led to a 30-day RCAF search for him and three others—developed engine trouble when he attempted to return it 150 miles to Yellowknife Tuesday.

Gonzalez again was forced down in the barren region, and again the air search began. But Wednesday, while RCMP and civilian planes were scouring the area, Gonzalez walked into Yellowknife under his own steam.

force for fear that Russia will demand a hand in things.

Meanwhile, the Canadian Army said no particular battalion has yet been assigned to the Suez job.

But there was speculation the 1st Battalion, The Black Watch, based at Camp Aldershot, N.S., might go.

The Canadian contingent will not be ready to move for a few weeks, according to Prime Minister St. Laurent.

He said health precautions, such as inoculations, have to be taken.

The government has indicated it referred to "policing operations" it does not expect the "injured" rather Canadian force to have to fight, than "wounded."
